AXIS PROMISES U. S. 'SURPRISE'

TWELVE FIRE FIGHTERS DIE AS ROOF FALLS

16 Others Injured In Tragic Blaze In Massachusetts; Other Victims Hunted.

MEN TRAPPED IN DEBRIS

Bodies of Four Men Buried In Wreckage for Five Hours After Roof's Fall.

(By Associated Press)

BROCKTON, Mass. — Twelve firemen were killed and 16 injured early today when the snow-laden roof of the 30-year old Strand theater collapsed during a fire which destroyed the building.

Firemen and police, poking through the smouldering mass of metal, wood and plaster, continued searching for other victims.

The known dead were: Capt. John F. Carroll, 52; William Murphy, 25; Daniel O'Brien, 45, Henry Sullivan, 45; Malcolm McNeill, 40; Matthew Geary, 48; Lieut. Raymond A. Mitchell; Denis Murphy, Roy H. Keraghan, George Collins, Martin Lipper and Fred Kelley.

Approximately 25 men were trapped when the roof over the theater balcony caved in with a terrific roar. Most were released quickly and given emergency hospital treatment, but two bodies were carried out along with the living.

The bodies of four of the missing were not freed from the debris until daybreak, five hours after the fire was discovered. Hundreds of Sunday night movie goers had left the theater less than two hours before the fire took hold.

Trapped firemen screamed as flames licked at their hands and faces while they were caught in the debris.

A Catholic priest, Rev. Lawrence Morrisoe of St. Patrick's church, borrowed a fireman's helmet and rubber coat and went into the burning building to administer last rites to the dying and most seriously injured.

COPLAND QUITS

Governor Accepts Resignation of Cleveland Judge.

COLUMBUS —(U.P.)— Governor Bricker today accepted the proferred resignation of David Copland as a municipal judge in Cleveland.

Judge Copland whose disbarment was upheld last month by the Ohio supreme court submitted his resignation effective April 1 in a letter to the governor. Removal proceedings against him were pending in the legislature.

The disbarment action grew out of discovery of a fictitious law case reported in a legal journal by Judge Copland. He continued to hold office and draw a salary as judge after disbarment even though he was not permitted to hear any cases on the bench. His salary was $9000 annually.

STRIKERS HALT PAPER'S PRESSES

Pittsburgh Daily Fails To Publish Monday Editions.

PITTSBURGH —(U.P.)— Publication of the Post Gazette, Pittsburgh's only morning newspaper, was suspended "until further notice" today because of a strike. It published no Monday edition.

Striking circulation workers had picketed the newspaper's plant intermittently since Friday night and members of other craft unions refused to cross the picket line.

The striking circulation workers alleged that the company had violated its contract with the Pittsburgh Newspaper Alliance, a union of outside circulation workers.

SOUND SLEEPERS

Boys Slumber on as Truck Crashes Into Home.

WALLACE, Idaho—(AP)—August Domeroivich lost control of his motor car.

It crashed into the Frank Foreman home and stopped against a studio couch, spraying it with broken glass and plaster. Domeroivich was cut and bruised.

Asleep on the couch were Max and Don, Foreman's young sons. Unhurt, they continued to slumber peacefully.

Flood of Supplies Expected to Be Started to Britain This Week

House Concurs On Aid Tuesday

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON—(INS)—An effort will be made to have the house approve senate changes in the lease-lend bill this afternoon and President Roosevelt expects to send a formal request to congress this week for appropriations to launch the aid program, it was announced today.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—Final congressional action on the British aid bill appeared today to be but a matter of hours, and informed persons considered it probable that the vast supply of war materials thereby made available to Britain would start moving across the Atlantic within a few days.

Small naval vessels were reported to be the first defense articles slated for delivery immediately after the bill becomes law, with food supplies to follow.

Only house approval of relatively minor amendments inserted by the senate before it passed the legislation 60 to 31 Saturday night was needed to speed the momentous measure to the White House. Speaker Rayburn and Chairman Bloom (D-N.Y.) of the house foreign affairs committee predicted the approval would be given Tuesday.

Once the bill is signed into law the president is expected to make swift use of the authority thus gained to "sell, transfer title to, exchange, lease, lend or otherwise dispose of" guns, planes, ships, tanks and all other armaments and food supplies.

Signing of the bill, too, will clear the way for him to ask congress for the billions necessary to carry out the program. He also may announce promptly just how the program will be administered.

The bill vests full authority in him. To decide broad policy questions, however, he is expected to work through a cabinet committee of Secretaries Hull, Stimson, Knox and Morgenthau, with Harry Hopkins, former commerce secretary, as aide.

He is also expected to work through the office of production management on matters of production, and through army and navy chiefs on the release of existing materials.

Some authorities estimated today that during this year and the next two the total cost of lease-lend assistance would substantially exceed $10,000,000,000. Not only Britain but any other nations "whose defense the president deems vital to the defense of the United States" may benefit. These Tightens Up Food Belt; Nazis Warn Subs Will Sink All War Supply Ships.

(By United Press)

LONDON—Great Britain, hailing senate passage of the lease-lend bill and looking forward to greater aid by the United States, tightened its food control system today and put the admiralty in charge of shipyard workers throughout the United Kingdom in preparation for a knockout fight against Germany.

Prospective enactment of the lease-lend bill was welcomed almost as much for its moral effect as for the physical aid it would bring Britain.

"Now the great productive machine of America is going in with the British commonwealth to pour out airplanes, ships and guns," said Labor Minister Ernest Bevin in a speech yesterday. "This overwhelming force, and the knowledge in Germany that the forces with which it started can not win, will create a psychological effect which will help break down the spirit of aggression in central Europe."

Jail City Worker As Robber of Park Meter Coin Boxes

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—William A. Decker, 52, a foreman in the city engineering department, was under arrest today charged with robbing the coin boxes of Columbus parking meters.

Police became suspicious of an "inside" job on several meter thefts when the mechanism of the meters was left undamaged although the coins were missing.

A trap was set with "marked" nickles and Decker was arrested when he was reported seen in the vicinity of robbed meters.

Police found two parking meter keys on Decker. He was charged with "forcing entry into a depository." Decker denied the charge.

Woman Lights Match After Alcohol Rubdown, Burned.

CLEVELAND —(INS)— It was apparent today that Mrs. Mary Maggar, 34, had paid no heed to the story of a few weeks ago that a Cleveland man suffered severe burns when he lighted a cigaret immediately after applying shaving lotion.

Mrs. Maggar was recovering from severe burns in a hospital after trying the same thing following an alcohol rub-down. Her husband saved her from more serious injury when he wrapped her in a blanket to extinguish her burning night clothes.

1700 WALK OUT

Strike Closes Midland Steel Plant at Detroit.

DETROIT—(INS)— The Midland Steel Products Co., shut down today when 17,000 members of the United Automobile Workers' union (CIO) walked out on strike.

Work on bodies for automobile concerns filling truck contracts for the army stopped. Edward M. Owen, state labor board conciliator, said a deadlock in negotiations developed over the question of wages.

Meantime, the strike of 350 UAW members at the Federal Motor Truck company continued, holding up about $5,000,000 in defense orders. Wage scale and a union shop clause were reported the chief points in dispute.

Hammer, Knife Guide Police In Hunt For Girl's Slayer

(By Associated Press)

KANSAS CITY—Clumsily abandoned, blood-stained weapons of death guided police today in the search for the killer who beat pretty Miss Leila Adele Welsh, 24, with a stone mason's hammer, slashed her with a butcher knife and fled with a deeply cut section of her hip.

The body of the socially prominent brunet, her pajamas in shreds, was found in her bedroom yesterday morning by her mother, Mrs. Marie F. Welsh, who went to awaken the daughter to attend church.

Miss Welsh, a 1937 beauty contestant at the University of Kansas City, had been slain during the night by a person who apparently entered through a bedroom window of the Welsh home in a well-to-do section. Her head had been fractured in several places and her throat severely slashed.

There were mud tracks on the window sill. Tucked in a neck wound was a man's shirt, minus its collar.

SNOW, COLDER

Weatherman Says Sunshine Won't Stay Long.

Spring is here today with bright sunshine over the city and temperatures well above freezing, but it will probably be gone again tomorrow.

The official thermometer reading stood at 37 at mid-morning, nine and a half degrees above the average for the last 48 hours. The mercury reached a low of 19 last night and climbed to a high of 38, Sunday.

There was a trace of snow remaining in the Mansfield area as the east continued to dig out from drifts left by a week-end blizzard.

RETURN PLANNED

Body of Noted Author To Be Brought Back To U. S.

CRISTOBAL, C. Z.—(UP)—Arrangements were completed today to return the body of Sherwood Anderson, 64, noted author, to the United States.

Anderson died at the Colon hospital Saturday night from an abdominal ailment complicated by peritonitis. He was born in Camden in 1876.

ROME, N. Y.—(AP)—Taxi Driver Fred Hert waited three hours for his pay after delivering a passenger to a private residence. Upon inquiry, the housekeeper told Hert the man had begged a free meal and then departed by a rear door.

Five Shelby, Shiloh Youths Arrested In Burglary Wave

Five Shelby and Shiloh youths, from 16 to 20 years old, rounded up over the week-end by Sheriff Frank E. Robinson, were believed today to hold the solution to a wave of burglaries in recent weeks in northern Richland county.

Another Shelby youth, Ted Brown, 21, was placed on six-months probation by Mayor W. H. Morris of Shelby after he admitted he drove an automobile for the youths on some of their trips. He was paroled to Police Chief Leroy Coffey of Shelby.

The five suspects, including three brothers who live near Shiloh, were taken to the county jail to await hearings scheduled for today. Three of the boys under 18 were to be taken before Judge Stuart H. Cramer in juvenile court.

Sheriff Robinson said two of the boys admitted the theft of gasoline, tires, storage batteries, auto horns, a radio, and other articles from garage, store rooms, and summer cottages in the Shelby and Shiloh communities.

The youths used the gasoline and a part of the auto accessories to keep their car running, while the rest of the loot was sold to second hand dealers, the sheriff said. None of the boys were employed, he added.

Included in the loot was a radio, camp stove, a quantity of gasoline, and other articles stolen from the summer home of Herman Dick near Shelby, authorities said.

MISHAPS KILL SCORE IN STATE

As Ohio chalked up its second consecutive week-end in which more than a score of persons were killed on highways of the state, Mansfield and Richland county escaped with no serious injuries reported Sunday and early today.

At Bucyrus four persons were hospitalized as the result of an accident at midnight Saturday on route 67 near the Crawford county seat when cars driven by Kenneth Ankney, 37, Sycamore, and Alvin Aichholz, Attica, sideswiped.

In the hospital were Ankney, with head and face injuries; his wife, Ollie, 36, who sustained a fractured leg; his brother, Elmer, 41, with a dislocated hip; and Mildred Aichholz, 22, who was riding with her father.

Miss Aichholz received face lacerations and head injuries when she was struck by a hit-skip driver as she stepped from the car following the crash. Aichholz sustained minor cuts and bruises.

New Tuberculosis Hospital Planned For Mount Vernon

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—State Welfare Director Charles L. Sherwood said today that plans have been drawn up to establish a new $300,000 hospital at Mount Vernon for the treatment of tubercular insane patients as part of the department's $3,475,000 building program. The hospital would have a capacity of 500 patients.

"It would take $500,000 to build an adequate unit but we probably will build a $300,000 building and send only women patients there at first and see how things work out," Sherwood said.

Sherwood said Mount Vernon was chosen as site for the new hospital because of the climate and high altitude.

Plans for the rest of the building have not been completed, the director said. A total of $1,400,000 will be expended for building replacement and rehabilitation and $2,900,000 for sites and construction of new buildings he said.

Passage of Aid Measure Called Open War Move

(By Associated Press)

Virginia Gayda, Fascist editorial spokesman, declared today that the British aid bill was "open intervention in the war against the Axis" which eventually may bring into play the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo pact "with many disagreeable surprises to England and the United States in the Pacific.

"Isolated in its elementary reality," he declared, "Roosevelt's gesture is a deliberate, unprovoked move toward war."

He called it a violation of The Hague convention on the rights and duties of a neutral and said:

"So President Roosevelt voluntarily and publicly takes the United States out of the neutrality which already has been much violated in the past month and renews Wilson's warlike policy, afterward disapproved by the senate. . . .

"No excuse may be claimed for the change to the figure of a new aggressor which Roosevelt is preparing to attribute to the United States, dragging their people into an adventure which they do not seek and on which they have not been called to express an opinion under the sacred principles of democracy."

Admitting only the possibility that passage of the bill would prolong and complicate the war, the authoritative editor declared the bill could not affect its outcome.

"It is not enough that arms, munitions and other war means leave the United States," he said. "They must reach their destination.

"The Axis counter-blockade is more than ever determined to bar passage of all supplies to England. It is more than ever armed to sustain this resolution with quick, massive efficiency."

Gayda reiterated the Italian assertion that the Axis never had interfered in American affairs nor menaced America, calling charges of such a menace a "fable."

France rebelled against the British blockade today, threatening to convoy and arm French merchant ships if the blockade continued; and in London, informed quarters indicated that it would be enforced regardless of French counter-measures.

In the Far East, new danger signals arose. British authorities in Singapore warned residents to be ready on 48 hours' notice to move from "areas where it is expected fighting will take place if Singapore is attacked from the sea."

Japan is reported to have massed a strong fleet of warships within quick striking distance of the British naval stronghold, a $150,000,000 citadel at the crossroads of the China seas and the Indian ocean.

France's vice premier, Admiral Jean Darlan, made a surprise statement defying the British blockade. Jean Achard, secretary of food supply, declared 18 million bushels of wheat from the United States were urgently needed for unoccupied France.

Darlan described the blockade as "imbecile" and asserted:

RAID: Nazi Planes Batter London During Mid-Morning

(By Associated Press)

LONDON—The scream of sirens warned of Nazi raiders over London in mid-morning today after the heaviest week-end of air attacks since the fire bomb raids of last Dec. 29.

The all clear came in half an hour, however, without any reports of damage or casualties.

The sun broke through high clouds over the strait of Dover.

One daylight raider machine-gunned the streets of an east coast town, then was driven off by anti-aircraft fire from a ship it attempted to attack off the coast.

Rescue crews dug into the bomb-strewn debris of a three-story London building, looking for two fire watchers believed on the roof when the bomb hit.

Another explosive damaged a theater last night. Four policemen were killed in a hit on a station house. Another building was destroyed but 150 persons, mostly women and children, escaped unhurt from a shelter in the basement.

Some Londoners regarded the quickened pace of the raids, concentrated on Britain's capital for two successive nights, as signaling the start of long-predicted full force spring air siege.

The capital had three alarms last night — one starting shortly before nightfall and lasting four hours, and two short alarms after midnight.

Sections along the south coast also were bombed and the roar of planes was heard overhead at scores of communities from northeastern Scotland to South Wales.

DELAY: Yugoslavs Postpone Signing, Strengthen Defenses

(By United Press)

BELGRADE — Signature of a Yugoslav-German non-aggression pact, which had been scheduled for tomorrow, may be postponed for a day or two, usually reliable informants reported today. The postponement was connected in diplomatic quarters with new defense measures Yugoslavia had taken, resulting in a redistribution of military units.

It was even suggested in some quarters that there were signs of German disapproval of these defense measures and that it might be responsible for postponing the signing of a non-aggression accord.

Well-informed sources said that regardless of any postponement, the accord was sure to be signed within a few days.

Informants said that Premier Dragisha Cvetkovitch and Foreign Minister Alexander Cincar-Markovitch might leave for Berlin tomorrow in a special German airplane which was expected here today.

Foreign diplomatic circles followed with great interest both Yugoslav diplomatic negotiations with Germany and measures Yugoslavia has been carrying out in connection with its defense simultaneously but independently.

Diplomats say that in both negotiations and defense measures, Yugoslavia has been motivated by a realistic spirit.

Foreign diplomats have been particularly interested in the fact that the defense measures are aimed at assuring that any emergency would find Yugoslavia able to put all its forces in the field along a defense line which could best be held against an attack.

Do We Squabble For Fun?

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Why we do certain things becomes more of an open secret every day. Books have been written on such subjects as "Why We Behave Like Human Beings," and, a later one, "Why We Behave Like Apes," with many of the compliments in our simmian cousins' favor. Other behavior books clutter the shelves of our public libraries and, if you have time, you may discover why Europeans are tearing at each other's throats and why we are likely to engage in the same madness at any time. There are other revelations such as quarreling for the kick we get out of it.

It seems that a good row has almost the stimulation of a cocktail. It whips up the circulation and brings about a state of forgetfulness of troubles other than the one we're fighting over. Take this following letter, for instance:

"DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

"I have been married nearly a year, and if it were not for the baby I'm expecting, I would light out of this house within the next twenty-four hours. We are all Americans to the third and fourth generations, my husband's family and mine, but never was there such a difference between people, allegedly civilized.

"My family is of Quaker descent and we are opposed to family quarrels. We talk things out peaceably. I have seen my dear mother, when her color began to rise in some family discussion, leave the room on an imaginary errand. Later she would return and the discussion would start over again peaceably.

"I've heard my father say to my mother, when there was talk on which they did not agree, 'Sara, we will resume this conversation tomorrow.' But there was never any rushing into the fray with the joy of battles to be fought and won at any cost as there is in the family in which I find myself—yes, I must use the word—trapped.

"The most trivial thing is enough to send them off, and they are at it with violent gestures and eyes flaming. You expect shooting to begin within the next few minutes but nothing of the sort occurs. After they've had their row out, they're the best of friends, invite each other to lunch, to the movies, to take a motor ride. The object of the altercation, as it seems to me, is just to get their blood up.

"At first these quarrels saddened me, particularly when I found myself involved in them. Later I learned to fold my hands in my lap, as I had seen my good Quaker grandmother do, and not say a word. But long after my husband and his family are enjoying the delights of reconciliation I'm a nervous wreck. I don't suppose there's any remedy for this, as it seems instinctive, but I'm glad to have told you about it—got it off my chest as they say.

"VERY MUCH UPSET."

As you realize, violence in this family means little more than a game to rouse sluggish circulations. In the interests of the latest member of the clan, your baby, why not try to take this situation with humor. Put on your hat and go out in the street when the rows begin.

Some evening when your husband is in a particularly good humor, ask him sweetly why he does not start a family gymnasium, so that he and the in-laws could get themselves feeling fit without the horrors of rowing. Ask him to install, perhaps, a trapeze for the more violent members, where they could swing by their toes like our arboreal ancestors, and dumbbells for the ladies. Besides, exercise would have the effect of reducing those ugly "spare tires" that have a way of settling 'round the abdomen. Bending and swaying would reduce hips.

But perhaps so few of us have yet learned "How to Behave Like Human Beings" that family gym work, as a substitute for quarreling, is too easy.

HOROSCOPE

For Tuesday, March 11.

A RATHER fluctuating state of affairs is read from the predominant astral figures. There may be a strongly disruptive and disintegrating influence that may spell disaster, even ruin, unless handled judiciously and on sound principles of integrity and honor. Snap judgments would be fatal, as well as rash and impulsive conduct of affairs that might possibly thrive by the use of finesse, strategy or through the sympathetic understanding of elders, friends or well-disposed organizations.

If It Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is should be on the threshold of a year of sudden uprooting or upheaval, with probably unusual circumstances to cope with. This should be done in an honest and forthright manner since any attempt at cleverness, duplicity, or "easy methods" would prove disastrous. Tact, sound judgment and the co-operation and understanding of relatives, good friends or superiors would prove more constructive and profitable. Be careful with writings and also in travel. Shun impulsive moves.

A child born on this day should be clever, bright and ingenious. It may be excitable, highstrung, erratic. It may have the sympathetic support of its friends and relatives as well as superiors.

Learns Praise Works

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

"Dear Dr. Myers: I am the mother of a 17-months-old boy. Just about two months ago I was at my wits' end and about to write you for help, but instead sat down and talked things over with myself and so solved my own problem.

"Tonight I am writing after reading your reply to a woman who has a little girl of 1 year and 8 months who is in the squealing period. Her problem is exactly the same as the one I was having at that time, especially the part on trying to bring the child into the house. I was so upset, and for a week I tried spanking him. I only found this to make matters worse, and he disobeyed me even more. It was then I realized I had to be calm, and resolved never again to spank him to get him to do things for me.

"Instead, as we neared home, I began speaking of what we were going to do when we got there. If it was supper time, I'd tell him we would eat then play ball. If it was bed time, I would tell him he was going to get his nice bath. That worked wonders and he was always eager to go into the house, and still is.

"Another thing. I hear so many mothers say they have to struggle to wash their baby's hair or face; and cleaning their ears and nose is almost impossible. I am very happy to relate. I have never had any trouble as I have always made a game of all these things, and include my husband when he is here. I praise the boy and tell him how big he is and let him see how pretty he is when I've finished.

"We had to take him to an eye specialist this week, and he was so good about everything. In giving him the eye drops, which we had to do for three days previous, he disliked it, but for each drop we gave him a piece of chocolate, so he would run to the couch and wait for them when we called. During the examination he sat perfectly quiet on my lap and turned his head just as he was told. He does have to wear glasses and even there he is grand. He puts them on and leaves them on and did so from the start, as again I told him he was a big boy.

"In other words, I have found that the secret of raising a child with the least difficulty is by affection and praise, making attractive what you want the child to do. Thanks for all the good work you have done and are doing, and for the help you give so many people daily, including myself."

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

"WHY? What do you mean? What do you know?"

Ronald shot the queries at me as if they were bullets, and I prepared to profit by the suspense which I purposely had evoked.

"I think it's the same thing that you know," I said, "that Carolyn knows, as do Marion's parents, but that your parents and the rest of Marion's world do not dream."

"We can't be talking about the same thing," he said, "unless"—his eyes were frenzied again—"has it already happened. Oh! God!"

He bent his face into his hands and a violent shudder ran over him. I saw there was no use delaying matters, and I spoke crisply.

"This has happened, Ronald," I said, spacing my words for emphasis, "Marion has disappeared from college, and we can find no trace of her, except that we know she is in the hands of gangsters who are trying to find out from her something that they think she knows or can learn for them. We are all in terror lest she be killed, or worse."

For the fraction of a second, he did not speak, and I knew that his tired and dazed brain was trying to realize what I had said. But in another instant he had leaped to his feet and was towering over me, his hand gripping my shoulder.

"Say that again!" he said hoarsely. "I—I—can't seem to get it."

I repeated what I had said slowly, watching closely the eyes that were fixed upon my face. But the only reaction they showed was horror, and I knew that whatever his own private news of Marion it was not what I had told him.

But there was something in his face that had not been there a minute before, and I thanked God for it. He was growing up by the second, leaving behind the adolescent youth, who had let his private grief obsess him to the point where he was playing the role of a whining neurotic instead of a man.

Marion's unknown peril had called him to action. I knew that there need be no more fear of Ronald's insanity or suicide. When he spoke next it was in entirely different tones, those of a man facing a fearsome problem, but answering it bravely.

"Of course, there is lot behind that statement," he said. "Are you willing to begin from the beginning, and tell me everything."

For an instant I considered asking him in return to tell me about the letter from Marion which evidently had caused all his emotional upset. Then my common sense told me that I would have far more success of getting it from him when he should have heard all I had to tell him concerning Marion, with the terrifying corollaries which his imagination would undobutedly supply.

Another question delayed my answer to him. Should I tell him about Carolyn's performance, and the suspicion we had that she was in some way connected with Marion's disappearance? Again common sense as well as an inherent aversion to what the small boys call "snitching," temporarily sealed my lips. If it became necessary, I told myself sternly, I should reveal everything about Carolyn to him. But that necessity did not yet exist, and until it did, I determined to say nothing to this devoted brother against his sister—always a ticklish proceeding.

Ronald stirred uneasily, although he did not speak, and I realized that I was prolonging his suspense. So in swift terse sentences, I began with Lillian's letter to me enclosing the letter from his mother to her which had so aroused Lillian's uneasiness. But even as I spoke of it, I realized that I had erred lamentably.

"Mother wrote to Aunt Lillian about me," he said with cold anger. "How dared she? What did she say?"

I knew that never in his life before had he spoken about his mother in that fashion, and my heart was sick within me, for I did not see how I was going to get out of revealing, in part, at least, the contents of that wailing letter.

"Not very much," I hedged finally. "That isn't the important thing I have to tell you."

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

"The Authority on Authorities"

YOUR BUMP OF CAUTION

IF PHRENOLOGISTS can pick out good bridge players by the size, number, shape and location of bumps on the head one of the first things they would have to look for is a well-developed bump of caution. For sound bridge demands two opposite requisites—the positive attributes which enable one to sally forth and earn points for his side and the negative qualifications which enable him to safeguard his side from disasters. For what profits it a man to pile up a lot of points on his side of the score if he shortly kicks away all of those and more, too, by lack of protective instinct?

All-around players are always alert to the risk involved in a possiblie misfit hand in which neither you nor your partner can find a declaration which dovetails satisfactorily in the two holdings. A partial fit in some suit named by your partner makes it safe in many cases to bid your own suit, whereas lack of such a fit might make your own bid over-venturesome. Note these West hands:

1	♠ 7 4	2	♠ 7 6 4
	♥ A K 6 5 2		♥ A K 6 5 2
	♦ Q 9 6		♦ Q 9
	♣ A 5 2		♣ A 5 2

(Dealer South. Both sides vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Dbl	Pass	2 ♦
Pass	(?)

Those hands look so much alike that many very fair players, sitting in the West position would take exactly the same action with either of them on their second turn. Actually the possession of one more diamond in No. 1 makes a tremendous difference in the way they would be bid by players of high rank.

Hand No. 2 was held by a pretty good average player in a rubber game. On his second turn he bid 2-Hearts and was doubled by North, who had waited for him with quite a hand. He took only four tricks and was set four for a score of 1,100 points. If East had taken him out into 3-Diamonds, five tricks could have been doubled by South and would have been set the same 1,100 points.

If the player, instead, had held hand No. 1, and he bid 2-Hearts, which a dozen fine players all agreed they would do, a double by North would have resulted in his taking out into 3-Diamonds and saving a lot of points by it. The extra diamond, if taken away from the opponent with the long string in the suit, would have saved two trump tricks and the shorter spades would have produced an extra ruff—three tricks.

Test Plans With Game

Novelty Offers Ideal Way to Plan Moves for Furniture.

BY MARGARET KERNODLE
(AP Feature Service Writer)

There's a new decorating game in the stores that should delight the spring-cleaner who craves to move furniture around, change the draperies from one room to another and perhaps buy something new for the annual sprucing-up of her house.

It is a kit of furniture symbols including lamps, desk, beds, buffet, spinet and grand pianos, love seat, fireplace and other necessary or luxury pieces to a total of 76.

The board which serves as a floor is marked off in squares; each representing a square foot. The wall pieces fit into these grooves and make it quite simple to outline in exact scale a room of any desired size.

The size and shape determined, the room is ready for door and window symbols and the cardboard carpet.

The planner then can make quick work of testing her dreams of a perfect room arrangement. If the dreams are shattered, her budget has not been wrecked and she can start testing new ideas until she hits upon some substitutes for the dreams that didn't look so good in actual test.

One can experiment with various period themes in furniture. Pieces can be shoved around no end without any back breaking or muscle straining to add to the discouragement of finding things looked better in their original positions.

One can get swatches of fabrics for draperies or upholstery to try in the little room. The furniture can be painted with a washable paint.

Fugitive on a Dude Ranch + +

CHAPTER XXVIII

"Dad, did you know Ma had let that fellow you fired stay on here? Did you know he dug up money to pay as a guest?"

"Eh?" Sol dropped his pipe. "By dogies, Ruth's been runnin' this outfit all 'long with a high hand. But that! That's goin' too far. Too far."

He tossed the newsparer aside, picked up his pipe and puffed out great clouds of smoke. "He paid for his keep, hus? . . . Wal, I'll see what Barclay says before I start raisin' hob."

Plodding up the stairs to Barclay's room, Sol rapped diffidently. That Jasper was a daggoned queer ranch buyer. Didn't know sic 'em about cows nor ranches, though he let on like he did. But if he had the dough, and it seemed like he did—

"What do you want?" demanded a snappish voice.

"Mr. Barclay, this is Sol. Just wanted to tell you I hope that—uh—uh—disagreeable incident won't interfere with your plans to buy the outfit, sir."

"It won't."

"That's jim-dandy. You're a real sport, Mr. Barclay. One more thing. I fired the confounded feller but—well, he sorta wants to stay as a guest. He's got the cash, too."

Smoothie Dick jerked open his door. "He's got the cash? That's strange! I mean, interesting. Well, I can be sport enough to overlook the matter."

"Thanks, Barclay. There won't be no more trouble. Sol Perriwell's tellin' you. . . . You care to give them cows in the Eagle Buttes pasture the once-over 'safternoon?"

"Tomorrow perhaps" Closing his door, Smoothie winked at his reflection in his mirror, flipped a billfold from his right side trousers pocket and murmured, "If Hick-sheriff Crowder pops up here again looking for Don Sturgis, he's going to find 'J. W. S.' wallet on him!"

Returning the billfold to his pocket, Smoothie's deft fingers failed to encounter something which should have been there. Alarmed, he frisked himself to no avail. The duplicate ignition key for his car was strangely missing!

* * *

Meanwhile Tony had gone to the cabin occupied by Kirk Maxwell.

"You, is it?" growled the associate editor of "The All-Seeing Eye," opening his door at Tony's knock. "The astute poker player," with brittle emphasis. "The most astute poker player I ever had the misfortune to sit in a game with. . . . Sorry. I'm busy."

Disregarding the rebuff, Tony crowded past, closed the door and glanced at Maxwell's typewriter. "You're writing a piece for your paper that'll get you in Dutch if it's published. The whole thing's a damned lie."

"A lie? Prove it, Perriwell. . . . Sit down. We can't afford to print lies Libel suits and all that . . . Well?"

"I'm prepared to prove that story you wrote yesterday is a lie," stated Tony. "I'm prepared to give you the true facts about the young woman registered at the T Slash as Marcla Louise Farnsworth. But it'll cost you something."

Because Maxwell looked as if strongly tempted to boot him out of his cabin, Tony had not taken a seat. Tony had often been booted out of saloons and gambling houses and had never felt particular enjoyment in the experience.

"'Registered at the T Slash as Marcla Louise Farnsworth!'" Maxwell repeated, "Well, isn't she?"

"She isn't!" Tony's owl-wise expression, maddening to Maxwell, indicated that he was indeed well pleased with himself.

"Then who in hell is the girl?"

"Not so fast, Maxwell. This information is worth dough to you and your lousy paper."

"'Lousy paper!' I don't know about that, but I do know there's a louse in this room. Get the hell out!"

"Hold on, Perriwell. I'll take back the louse,' with reservations. Our sheet often does business with vermin of one kind or another. Look here, if your information is what you say it is and you can prove your story, I'll write you a check for ten dollars."

"Five hundred," stated Tony with decision.

"You're not talking to me, you robber."

"All right. All right. So long."

Tony let go of the doorknob. "Twenty? You're a cheapskate, but here goes." He drew from an inside pocket the copy of the New York paper that old Sol had missed. "Look! A recent photograph of Marcla Louise Farnsworth."

Maxwell snatched the newspaper, quickly read the item concerning the Farnsworth family, peered intently at pictures of Marcla Louise Farnsworth in three different poses.

"Perriwell, you're right! Man, would I have got the sack! . . But who is this jane here impersonating Miss Farnsworth? Why? You got the answers?"

"Have I got 'em!" said Tony smugly.

"I suppose you have. Damn you, Tony, you knew all about this mixup yesterday when you were pumping me for information about the Smith family."

"Brace yourself, Kirk. The girl here on the T Slash is none other than Nancy Eleanor Smith. Look here at this item: 'Mrs. Pauline Stevenson Huntington-Smythe to sponsor Hudson Alexander's opening of Garrity theater' . . . The girl, Nancy Eleanor, ran away from home to avoid that Alexander fellow. Is it a story, Maxwell? Is it?"

"Is it!" echoed Maxwell. "This is a scoop! The robbery spices it up and—"

"For another hundred bucks," said Tony smugly. "I'll give you the second barrel."

"How's that? Second barrel? What—?"

"The romantic angle, Maxwell. Don't forget the way your readers eat up romantic stories."

"You mean . . . ?"

"You're guessing and you're hot, Maxwell. But I won't verify your surmise unless you come through."

"All right, you bloodsucker. I'll make the check out for twenty-five dollars. The money has to come out of my own pocket, Remember."

"Not enough," complained Tony. "Still, small change is better than none-a-tall. . . . You'll dress up the story something like this, Kirk: 'Nancy Eleanor Smith found romance and glamour waiting her in the high, snowy mountains of Wyoming where the columbines grow. There in the liquid moonlight, beside a shadowy lake fringed with fragrant pines, stalwart, handsome Westerner Anthony Thomas Perriwell captured the heart of Miss Nancy Eleanor and—"

Maxwell gasped, "She—she accepted you? . . . What damn fools some women are!"

* * *

Tony left Maxwell's cabin in a violent humor. But his ruffled feelings were greatly soothed by the thought of the check in his inside vest pocket. As he entered the main room of the Lodge, his father looked up from his game of solitaire.

"Come here, son. I want another talk with you."

"Yes, Dad." Although Tony spoke respectfully he was thinking, "What a dumb fool he is Wouldn't mind marrying me off to a wealthy woman. But he has no better sense than to put his foot down on something else—something it takes cleverness and brains to put across."

"Not gettin' along so good with the young lady, huh?" said old Sol. "I heard she's gone ridin' with Slim. That worry you?"

"Not at all, Dad. I was hunting for the thief. No doubt Marcla was bored and Slim offered an outlet for her energy."

"Humph!" I've knowed cases where them high-toned girls got plumb fascinated with cowboys."

"This girl won't. You see—keep this to yourself for a spell—she accepted me yesterday. We're engaged."

Old Sol's left hand scattered the cards on the writing desk. He lumbered to his feet. "By dogies, Tony, that news just plain stuns me! It sure does!"

At this moment the telephone rang the T Slash ring—two shorts and one long. Tony, glad of this interruption, ran to the instrument.

"This is Central in Jimtown," he was told. "Dagger Wash telegraph office has a wire for Roberta Rowland . . . Can you get Miss Rowland to the phone, T Slash?"

"Impossible," said Tony instantly. "I'll take the message."

* * *

A telegram for Roberta Rowland! Damn it! In his carefully worded letter he had specifically instructed Mrs. Pauline Stevenson Huntington-Smythe to reply by air mail, not by wire. A good thing he had been on hand to answer the call. But Central in Jimtown would be obliged to take the message from Dagger Wash, then relay it to the T Slash, while ranchers' wives along this party line would have their ears glued to their receivers.

"Just a minute, T Slash," said the voice at the other end of the wire. "I'll have the telegraph office in Dagger Wash give me the message, then——"

"Hold on!" yelled Tony. "Don't take that telegram, Central! Who's it from?"

"Telegram for Miss Roberta Rowland from Mrs. Pauline S. H. Smythe, Philadelphia. . . . Don't you want it, T Slash?"

"Wait," panted Tony and thought "Man! Would I like to know what Mrs. Smythe says! But——" He spoke into the receiver, "Tell the telegraph operator in Dagger Wash to put the message in an envelope and seal it. Send it in a sealed envelope! Get it?"

"Okay. Sure I get it." The Jimtown central sounded quite disappointed. "I'll tell 'em to send the telegram over to Jimtown tomorrow by Halfaday Hank. That be all right?"

"Uh-er? Yes. That'll be hunky."

Tony was sweating as he hung up the receiver. Observing old Sol regarding him in a puzzled manner he said, "You keep still about this."

"Why?"

Tony did some swift thinking. "It's a mighty pleasant surprise for Roberta—Bobbie—and I want to hold it for her until tomorrow when she'll get the telegram, savvy?" But Tony told himself that Bobbie would never see that telegram.

CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"Why Do We Love the Paper, All?"

THOMAS WOLFE
(1900–1938)

"How often have we read the paper!

Little route-boys fold and block it, so to throw it—and so we find it and unfold it, crackling and ink-laden, at our doors.

Sometimes we find it tossed there lightly with flat plop; sometimes we find it thrown with solid, whizzing whack against the clapboards; sometimes servants find just freshly folded sheets laid neatly down in doorways, and take them to the table for their masters. No matter how it got there, we always find it. How we do love the paper! How we do love the paper, all!

Why do we love the paper? Why do we love the paper, all?

Mad masters, I will tell ye why.

Because the paper is 'the news', and we love the smell of news . . ."

From: "You Can't Go Home Again"
by THOMAS WOLFE

IN THIS PASSAGE, which appears in the current best-seller, "You Can't Go Home Again," the late Thomas Wolfe painted a realistic picture of what the news and the newspaper mean to all of us. In the two years since Wolfe's death, world events have made both the news and the newspaper more important than ever in people's lives. And this has made newspaper space, long recognized as the basic advertising medium, more valuable than ever to advertisers.

Coal Operators, Miners Open Pay Parley

BROADWAY

—By Dorothy Kilgallen

Speaking for Myself.

I WOULD like to make a suggestion to President Roosevelt. I think the next time he is called upon to appoint an ambassador to the far east, he ought to select one of the boys from Broadway because the boys from Broadway seem to have solved the oriental problem with no trouble at all.

Kilgallen.

F. D. R. has only to come around and look at the stage-door - johnnying that goes on in night clubs with Chinese, Japanese, Siamese or Korean floor shows, or even in restaurants with slant-eyed hat check and cigaret girls, to realize that the fellows in the Glamor Area have applied themselves assiduously to the old question of East is East and West is West and why shouldn't the twain meet?

If the president would like some suggestions on what specific lads are experts in Far Eastern relations, I would nominate: (1) George Jean Nathan, the drama critic: (2) Vincent Lopez, the orchesrta leader; (3) Lee Mortimer, the scribe; (4) Artie Shaw, the swing clarinetist.

That board ought to be able to keep things smooth in the Pacific.

* * *

I would like to know what Miss Luise Rainer was saying to James H. R. Cromwell at the Casino Russe Wednesday night, between 10 p. m. and 2 a. m. I suppose every columnist has moments of wanting desperately to be a lip-reader, but I have never felt the urge more strongly than while watching Luise enacting a running monologue for Jimmy's benefit.

She was talking with phenomenal animation at ten, when I arrived, and it seemed to me that she did not pause for breath or halt a gesture until approximately 2:10 a. m., when she gathered up her slinky, high-necked egg-shell lame dinner gown and departed.

At intervals, Jimmy said, "Shall we dance?" and they did, but even as they traipsed across the parquet Luise kept one hand free for gesticulating.

I don't know whether she was trying to sell him the Brooklyn Bridge, 10,000 shares of chewing gum stock or an island with a buried treasure on it—but I think the performance she gave was enchanting enough to win her a third Oscar.

* * *

I never can understand why there aren't more good murder mystery movies. Whodunit books sell like hotcakes, but rarely does the cinema crash through with a corking mystery film, although there are thousands of good plots on hand and a murder picture is about the cheapest-to-make kind known to celluloid. Maybe there aren't enough Alfred Hitchcocks to direct them. . . .

A song I would never miss is the cloyingly coy "Comin' Through the Rye." Makes me grit my teeth every time a soprano whips into it. . . .

I hear that Georgie Jessel is convinced his expected bassinet-tenant will be a boy, and he is going to call it (perhaps among other things) "Eddie Cantor," to taunt his comedian confrere, who is the papa of five girls. "Every time he hears my son's name," Jessel gloats, "I will have my revenge on Cantor."

* * *

Ten cent stores fascinate me. I always explore them and come out with some things I don't need. Usually little notebooks I never write in and fingernails polish I never put on.

For classic columns I doff my Spring skimmer to Bill Corum's . . . I never heard any fan, male or female, say, "I don't like Jimmy Stewart."

* * *

Gertie Lawrence popped into the Barberry room the other evening because she had been reminded by an item in this column that the Barberry room" is still the town's best place for courting."

The star of "Lady In the Dark" doesn't have to be told that because it was in the starlight-and-mirror atmosphere of J. Moriarity's luxurious bistro that she and Richard Aldrich, the producer, used to hold hands in the romancy days before they were married. And still do. . . .

Everyone knows, of course, that Bandleader Abe Lyman once drove a cab, but you could have bowled me over with a celery stalk when I boarded a cab outside Lindy's (which is the maestro's hangout) and saw by the driver's identification card that I was being piloted by Abraham Lyman.

HOLLYWOOD

—By Robbin Coons

* * *

STRIPPED of some—not quite all of its "shock appeal," this hardy perennial of the theater comes to the screen as fantastic comedy with undertones of pathos.

ROBBIN COONS

Jeeter Lester and his shiftless, amoral tribe appear slightly more human in the film, perhaps, than on the stage. They are still to the average movie fan as remote as Hottentots. If, after seeing Ford's "Grapes of Wrath," you felt an urge to do something about his Joads, you won't get the same impulse from "Tobacco Road," which clearly indicates that there is nothing much that can be done about the Lesters.

Jeeter's whole objective—source of the pathos—is to stay put on the once-rich Georgia land his forefathers sowed. He gets, in the end, a temporary respite from eviction, and the chance to talk about the crops he's going to plant in "a couple of weeks"—a time limit as definite as the "one of these days" on which he'll go look for Grandma who "maybe died" out there in the woods.

As in the play, Dude Lester (Tracy), the impetuous half-wit, marries Sister Bessie (Rambeau) so he can drive her new automobile; Lov (Bond) is married to 13-year-old Pearl (never seen in the film) and is consoled, when she runs away, by the "aged" Ellie May (Tierney).

There are good performances here (notably by Grapewin and Patterson and young Andrews as their benefactor) as well as the tours de force of Tracy and Rambeau.

* * *

* * *

Rather original comedy-drama framing the talents of phenomenal-voiced Susanna as a youngster from burlesque initiated into the higher things at Michigan's Camp Interlochen by Jones and Overman. The film also exploits the musical gifts of Jones and of the youthful Heimo Haitto, Kaye Connor, William Chapman, Dolly Loehr and Patricia Travers—the last-named captivating as the gifted brat who doesn't like music.

ASSEMBLY GOES TO WORK TODAY ON BUDGET BILL

Appropriation Bill For Current Biennium Prepared, Series of Hearings to Follow.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS — The 94th Ohio general assembly goes to work tonight on the major business of its session—the $352,000,000 budget for operation of state departments in 1941-42.

An appropriation bill embracing budget recommendations was prepared over the week-end by the house finance committee for introduction as the legislature enters its 10th week.

Then will begin a series of hearings in which department heads and special interests will urge increase of various allocations.

Gov. John W. Bricker recognized that changes may be made in numerous allowances, but advised legislators not to increase the total of recommended appropriations and throw the budget out of balance.

Submission of his estimates of state income and expenditures for the biennium also was the go-ahead signal for other important legislation, held up by the assembly until it received a full picture of the financial situation.

Awaiting a vote in the senate are these measures:

To divert $5,000,000 in auto license tag revenue from highways to general operating needs, traffic enforcement and street cleaning of the cities and counties.

To allocate $12,000,000 a year in sales tax money to the local governments, a figure which the Democrats are striving to hike to $17,000,000, and

Hearings also will be resumed this week in the senate on proposals to liberalize unemployment insurance benefits.

ILLNESS FATAL

Mrs. Anna S. Marlow, 77, Succumbs at Home.

Mrs. Anna Seward Marlow, 77, of 287 Marion avenue, died Sunday after a brief illness.

A life-long resident of Richland county, she was born May 1, 1863 near Maxwell Springs, the daughter of Dennis and Mary White Seward, pioneer Springfield township residents. She was a member of the First Lutheran church.

Surviving are a son, Harry E. Marlow, and a sister, Mrs. Ella Gibson, both of Mansfield, and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Wednesday at the Finefrock funeral home in charge of Rev. Grover E. Swoyer, pastor of First Lutheran church. Burial will be in Mansfield cemetery.

School Resumes at Cincinnati as Strike of Firemen and Engineers Ends.

(By Associated Press)

CINCINNATI—Heat and 50,000 public school children who took a two-day holiday last week because of a firemen and engineer's strike were back in classrooms today.

The strike was settled late yesterday after a meeting in which board representatives took their case before a union meeting of 70 striking members of the international unions of operating engineers and stationary firemen and oilers, both AFL.

The firemen and engineers, who decided Wednesday night to let the fires go out until they got pay raises, left the meeting to make ready the 69 of 89 school buildings that were too cold for classes Friday.

The strikers agreed on Saturday to keep building temperatures above freezing to protect water pipes.

The strike settlement — an unwritten agreement—provides an additional two weeks work and a week or added pay for junior engineers and firemen, Lloyd Nolan, business agent of the engineers, said.

Originally the unions asked these raises: steam firemen, 7.5 cents to 82.5 cents an hour: junior firemen, 15 cents to $1.05: senior engineers, 12.5 cents to $1.12½; and chief engineers 8.75 cents to $1.25.

Although the wage demands did not figure in the settlement, Nolan said his union would seek them again "at the next school appropriations time." Van Fossen said this would not be until 1942.

CONCERT SINGER DIES

CLEVELAND —(AP)— Mrs. Jennie Alltwen Bell, concert singer of the '90's, known as the "Welsh Linnet," is dead here at the age of 78. She was a second cousin of Britain's World war premier, David Lloyd George.

OTT CHOSEN TO HEAD AREA SCOUT COUNCIL FOR 12TH YEAR

L. A. Ott was named president of the Johnny Appleseed Area Boy Scout Council for the 12th time, it was announced today by Floyd Dent, area executive. Ott first held the office in 1929.

At the meeting of the council Saturday, at Boy Scout headquarters, other officers named were William C. Mead, Mansfield, O. E. Hill, Galion, and William Parnell, Shelby, S. F. Jameson, Ashland, vice presidents; C. W. Lindeman, Mansfield, secretary; W. S. Valmore, Mansfield, treasurer; and C. I. Kimmel, Mansfield, commissioner.

Theme of the Saturday meeting was the program of action. Scouters of the area outlined points of the program to be followed in the coming year. There was a discussion of the recruiting problem with the aim of establishing a full quota for each troop and the establishment of two new troops in Mansfield.

The Area Council disclosed the cooperative plan of the movement with the Red Cross to establish an emergency corps of trained older boys. A unit will be formed in each district to administer first aid. The unit will also be formed to handle matters of communication and transportation.

Awards were presented at the meeting. Raymond Beardsley, Loudonville received the Silver Beaver badge, awarded by the local council in behalf of the national headquarters for work "in behalf of boyhood." The badge is the highest distinction awarded locally.

Veterans of the Boy Scout movement were also honored. Veteran badges were given to the following for five years of service in the organization. Clark L. Robinson, Robert Burns, R. R. Haun, Ralph Spaid, P. M. Chrisman, Rev. Guy H. Volpitto, W. W. Vanasdale, C. E. Iman, and D. W. Korens.

L. A. OTT

There were five who received ten year veteran awards, James Gadfield, Fred Elder, Charles Weitthoff, Avery C. Hand, and J. R. Stevenson. Fifteen year veterans are L. M. Liggett, J. F. Church, Thomas C. Wiley, and Carl Dudte.

Veterans of 20 years service to the movement were O. D. Culler, Robert T. Eilenfield, B. W. Forkner, G. R. James and Floyd Dent.

Members named to the executive board of the Johnny Appleseed Area council for the year are Glenn Haller, E. H. Taylor, Sidney Boyd, J. E. Bohn, and Arthur Vanosdall, all of Ashland.

From Loudonville the following were named, Floyd McClure, O. D. Culler, Frank McClure and Rev. G. H. Volpitto.

Shelby members of the board are Wayne M. Carletton, Orin Pfahler, and Julius Sutter; from Galion named to the board were J. C. Gay, Dudley VanMeter, Roger Godfrey, Ralph Spaid, and R. W. Patterson.

Mansfield members of the executive board are: George Smith, B. W. Forkner, M. D. Ward, Avery Hand, Otto McCormick, Harold Arlin, M. P. Wolcott, Dr. D. C. Lavender, J. Leo Hartmann, Paul Tappan, Dr. K. M. Willson, and Curtiss McCarter, of Crestline.

Up and Down the Street

W. C. Smith, state highway patrolman, was surrounded by the sweet odor of Narcissus perfume the other day which must have startled anyone familiar with the robust aspect of the highway patrol. Smith unwittingly submitted to the ministrations of a brother-officer who he thought was polishing his badge. Brother officer instead was carefully painting the emblem with a liquid incense. The heavy odor clung to the badge and was still surrounding Smith today.

One of those strange flowers known as "the sacred lily of India" is in bloom at the home of David L. Jones, 76 Rowland avenue. The single, large maroon-colored lily, with a stench-like odor, is on a stalk 37 inches high, which grows from a bulb that requires neither earth nor water. Many superstitions are associated with this flower in its native India and it is quite rare in this country.

Cupid has invaded County Treasurer John E. Kolb's office and today had disrupted the office routine, at least temporarily. A deputy, Miss Alice Rinehart, was married Saturday and had left today on a wedding trip. Two other employes, Miss Martha Flohr and James Jurgens, plan to be married soon. Miss Flohr has been wearing a diamond for some time, and Jurgens recently gave one to his bride-to-be.

There's been a minor mystery around city hall. It concerned what had become of President of Council Howard Miller's handsome gavel. The sturdy implement was made by NYA workers from a piece of the rail fence which surrounded the blockhouse in South park. Miller received and used it when he presided at his first meeting. But council was so orderly there was no further need for the gavel. Perhaps Miller knew where it was but when the question came up this morning nobody could remember having seen it until William Beer, clerk of council, explained that it was in the rear compartment of a drawer in his desk—handy, just in case council should become obstreperous sometime.

SUIT DISMISSED

Libel Action Against Paper Settled By Litigants.

A $25,000 libel suit against The Mansfield Journal company, publishers of The News-Journal, and Robert E. Rogers, a reporter, was settled and dismissed this morning shortly before the case was scheduled to go to trial before a jury in common pleas court.

James E. Warrack, plaintiff in the action, dismissed his petition after an agreement was reached. The court entry dismissing the suit specifies that Warrack has no right of future appeal.

The suit involved a story published by The News-Journal March 9, 1940, after Warrack resigned as superintendent of the city waterworks department. Attys. Henkel and Gongwer represented the defendants and Atty. C. W. Chorpening of Ashland was Warrack's counsel.

FUEL RATIONS STILL REDUCED

Gasoline Strike In Stark County Goes Into Fourth Day.

CANTON—(INS)—Motorists continued on slim gasoline rations today as the Stark county gasoline truck drivers entered their fourth day of a strike for higher wages.

Distributors estimated that at least half the county's filling stations would run dry today, with the rest closing up within a couple of days if an agreement is not reached between the dealers and Truck Drivers Local No. 92 (AFL).

The strike was called last Friday by Thomas Oakes, business agent for the local.

ON COMMITTEE

Mansfielder to Help Plan for Mining Congress Expo.

J. H. Sanford, manager of the mining division of the Ohio Brass company, had been appointed today to the publicity committee to help plan the 18th annual coal convention and exposition of the American Mining congress April 28 to May 2 in Cincinnati.

Among the topics to be considered at the convention will be the modernization of the nation's coal mines to meet requirements of defense industries for a rapid flow of fuel. It is expected that more than 5,000 men in the mining industry will attend the sessions.

LEWIS UNION TO ASK DOLLAR A DAY BOOST

Both Sides Confer Today To Formulate Policy, 2-Year Contract to Be Replaced.

NEW YORK—Soft coal operators and miners gathered here today for their biennial wage-hour negotiations in which John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers of America was expected to ask $1 a day wage increases in the eight-state Appalachian region of the east and south.

The negotiations, to get formally under way tomorrow, will be for a contract replacing the two-year closed shop agreement which expires March 31. The operators, representing 21 mine associations, were expected to oppose any demands for a wage increase.

In the negotiations two years ago, which started March 14 and ended May 13 with a go-to-work order terminating a two-weeks' stoppage, the miners and operators signed an agreement continuing the 35-hour week and the daily basic wage of $6 in the north and $5.60 in the south which had been incorporated in the 1937-39 contract.

The 1939-41 contract affected 340,000 union miners in the east and, incidentally, 126,000 in the west.

Today some 150 or 200 miners, members of the UMWA's international policy committee and representing 11 union districts in the Appalachian area, met with Lewis, UMWA Vice President Philip Murray, and UMWA secretary-treasurer to formulate the demands which will be presented to the operators tomorrow.

Meanwhile, the operators, with their spokesman, Charles O'Neill, met to organize their negotiating committee and consider counter-proposal strategy.

Both sides expressed the hope that the national defense program, in which the $4,000,000,000 soft coal industry is playing an important role, would expedite negotiations and produce an agreement in shorter order than was the case two years ago.

The 1939 negotiations became deadlocked before the March 31 deadline and a work stoppage resulted.

Union Leaders To Ask Westinghouse For Pact, Pay Hike

Leaders of the CIO's United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers union disclosed in Pittsburgh today they will seek a single, comprehensive contract and a 10-cent an hour wage increase for 40,000 workers in 22 plants of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company.

Such a contract would affect approximately 3,800 production workers at the Mansfield plant.

The demands were incorporated in a five-point program formulated at a meeting of union delegates at Pittsburgh yesterday which was attended by members of the executive board of the Mansfield local at Westinghouse.

Union officials withheld details of the contract proposal pending submission of terms to Westinghouse officials.

Dispatches quoted Julius Empsak, union secretary-treasurer, as saying the program was based upon the "company's refusal to make a national agreement," supplanting separate pacts in the 22 plants, and upon demands for wage boosts. He claimed the union represented a majority of workers in all Westinghouse plants.

Meanwhile in Washington today, the United States supreme court upheld a labor board order which directed the Westinghouse company to dis-establish a union of company employes at its Bloomfield, N. J., plant.

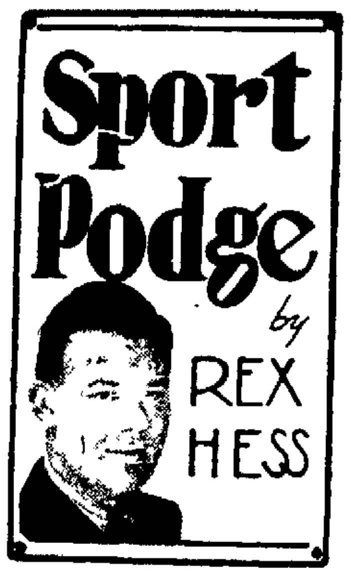
The labor board said the company "had dominated the plan and had attempted to continue it in the guise of an independent union."

SOUND MOVIES SHOWN TO CLUB

Evolution of Transportation Subject of Film Shown.

Sound motion pictures of the evolution of transportation and the world of the future as pictured by C. F. Kettering, head of the research division of General Motors, were shown Saturday at a meeting of the Amima club at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

J. T. Pittaway, Cleveland, division public relations director for General Motors, presented the pictures. Joe Hartline, member of the club, told of his recent trip to Florida. The program was in charge of W. W. Workman and George Fort.



Paul Carbetta's wearing a boxing crown today, but it's in the form of a cast on his left thumb. The digit was broken in the first round of his semi-final bout of the Chicago mid-west Golden Gloves tournament Friday night.

The fracture explains to some extent his loss, by a close decision, in the finals to defending Champion Harold Dade later that night.

And the decision, at that, was far from popular, according to the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

* * *

The Chicago tournament is now water over the dam. The thing that's worrying Paul right now is whether or not the thumb will be mended in time for him to participate in the national joust at Boston March 29.

Give him a good thumb, and from this corner it appears he has a better chance than most of copping that national title.

* * *

Too bad that thing was broken. It robbed Paul of the boxer's favorite toast:

"Here's thumbs in your eye."

Now I am all for indoor sports of the milder sort, but bowling, I fear, is much too rough and dangerous for me. After what happens to Mary McMullen at Meder alleys yesterday, I'm convinced of it.

Mary trips at the foul line, topples into the gutter, slashes a gash in her right arm, bruises her right elbow, and gets hanged up generally. And Mary is a good bowler.

* * *

The Meders have been after me this long time to try my hand at this rough sport.

But alleys, and gutters, and slashes, and gashes, and bruises and things! Not for me!

Why, I'd get killed out there.

Virginia is on my team now. The lady from Lucas writes a letter, personal and "not for publication," in which she says so. And she's welcome. There's always room.

But, gosh, Virginia, don't let me down now. I counted on you to brighten up this column now and again. The Podge is always open, and if you can't toss your barbs at me anymore, toss 'em at someone else.

Gentle Spring, you little shy thing.
Tell me, Spring, where are you hiding?
Round the corner, and up the street?
Round the corner is snow, and sleet,
And underfoot's a gob of slush
Spring! You can't do this to us!

* * *

Spring is Bock is back is Bock is Spring.

Indians Favored By Stars

McLemore Gets Tip on Race By Meteor Mail.

By HENRY McLEMORE

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. —(U.P.)— Roger Peckinpaugh probably hasn't given the milky way or the big dipper a single thought since he signed a contract to manage the Cleveland Indians this year, but the stars that go to make them up, as well as all the other high class twinklers, are working in three eight hour shifts these nights to help him be a success.

* * *

From the pole star to Venus they are as busy as kittens in a sack getting positions where they can shine on him most favorably. You don't have to take my word for this, or even the word of the Mount Wilson observatory. It comes from Helen Paul, a New York City astrologer who seems to specialize in forecasting what the stars aim to do for athletes.

* * *

A letter came from Miss Paul today (by falling meteor, I suspect) in which she not only informed me of the good things in store for Peckinpaugh, but also told me that a pair of earthly stars, Joe DiMaggio and Joe Louis, had better watch their steps during 1941.

It will undoubtedly please Peckinpaugh to know that he is going to escape all the miseries that beset Cleveland's 1940 manager (and I used the word "manager" advisedly). Ossie Vitt scarcely escaped with his life and a bonus. But Miss Paul makes this roseate prediction concerning Roger:

"The early spring will be a most encouraging one for him. For he will get a good deal of cooperation. Then, beginning with June 1, his chart shows a great deal of financial profit which may be interested as bringing him an additional bonus. He will definitely ingratiate himself with the 'powers that be'."

* * *

(Miss Paul doesn't list the powers that be. But the chances are she means Rollie Hemsley, Bob Feller and the other contented mal-contents.)

* * *

"Several planets in the highly original sign of Aquarias will prompt him to inaugurate several new ideas in the development of his job—ideas which may not meet with the approval of certain people, but which will definitely develop most successfully for him as well as for the owners of that enterprise."

The stars, according to Miss Paul, have a grudge against DiMaggio and Louis. But they are going to be pretty decent about it, however. And not hold the peeve after June 10. Up until that time, though, the two Joes would be wise to be as cautious as visiting salmon in a canning factory.

Miss Paul, if you happen to see this, please send me down my horoscope. I'm a Saggittarius boy, which, as you know is a fiery sign. And one in which, if the moon is dark or on the wane, radishes or potatoes may be safely planted.

Clevelanders Win Two Tilts

Cleveland Pneumatic Tool keglers took two out of three matches from Mansfield bowlers in special matches on the Meder alleys yesterday.

Royal Crown Cola women's team lost to a Cleveland male quintet by 58 pins, and Silver King Tractors dropped a 150-pin decision to the Clevelanders.

Vigh Oh Vigh Did He Do It, Mr. Vigh Asks

Champ Given Second Rank

McNeill Placed Below Riggs In Tournament.

OKLAHOMA CITY —(AP)— Don McNeill, who returns to his home town as the country's first-ranking amateur tennis player in quest of the national indoor crown, found himself seeded No. 2 in the tournament which opened today. Ahead of him was defending champion Bobby Riggs.

* * *

Chicago's bounding Bobby, who lifted the indoor crown from McNeill's blond head last year, topped a field of 64 participants. Fifty-two will play first-round singles matches today.

* * *

Seeded No. 3 was Frank Kovacs, the Oakland, Calif., clown, who stopped Riggs in the finals of the state indoor meet here 10 weeks ago, then became the sensation of the winter circuit by winning several southern tournaments.

Wayne Sabin of Portland, Ore., another former national indoor titleholder, drew the No. 3 position and Jack Kramer of Los Angeles, who teamed with Ted Schroeder to win the national doubles championship last year, was seeded No. 5. The doubles will start Wednesday.

Riggs will start his title defense tomorrow, meeting Ed Overholser of Oklahoma City. McNeill takes on Jack Griggs of Ada, Okla., tonight. The former Kenyon star now is employed by the Gambier, O., college in its admissions department.

CARBETTA HONORED BY LEAGUE CAGERS

Paul Carbetta, finalist in the Chicago Golden Gloves midwest boxing tournament, and graduate of the Friendly House Intermediate White basketball league, will be the guest of honor when the league holds its annual dinner tomorrow at 6:30 p. m.

Foresters will be awarded the championship miniature gold basketballs. The dinner, in charge of Mrs. Irma Augustine and Mike Wentz, will be followed by dancing.

Young Bagby Cheers Tribe

Son of Old Sarge Hurls Second Good Turn.

HAVANA, Cuba — (U.P.) — The pitching of Jim Bagby, jr., today stood out as the bright spot of the Cleveland Indians' spring training performances.

Bagby gave another fine demonstration yesterday that he figures strongly in the plans of Manager Peckinpaugh as he ran his scoreless string to six innings as the Indians split a double header with the Brooklyn Dodgers.

* * *

The newly acquired hurler from the Boston Red Sox blanked the Dodgers in the seventh, eighth and ninth innings as the Tribe won the first game, 8 to 4. The Dodgers came back in the finale to gain a 3 to 0 victory in four and one-half innings.

* * *

In his first appearance last Thursday, young Bagby, hurling for the Yanigans against the Cleveland varsity, retired eight straight batters as he gave up one hit in three innings. Yesterday he yielded three blows, one a scratch hit off the bat of Joe Medwick.

Bob Feller, Tribe fireball ace, worked the first three innings in the opener and was nicked for three runs in the third inning uprising. The Dodgers added another in the fourth but Cleveland rallied for five in the fifth frame and went ahead to stay.

The Indians lost their opener against the Dodgers last Friday, 15 to 0, and will not face another foe until Thursday when they meet the St. Louis Cards at St. Petersburg, Fla.

HIT SECOND PLACE

DETROIT—(AP)—The Fostoria, O., team turned in a 3111 for second place, five behind Peru, Ind., in the first weekend of the national Moose bowling tourney here. N. Brickles of Fostoria, paced the singles with 754 and the all-events with 1982.

Muskies Claim Fan Plaudits

Upset of Wooster Takes Late-Season Cheers.

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS —(AP)— The critics were unanimous today that the amateur talent put on a "pretty good show" during Ohio's basketball season.

Still on the program was next Saturday's Defiance-Detroit Tech epilogue, but most of the audience had gone home. All were talking about the "bit" player—Muskingum—which stole the show.

* * *

The robust Muskies, with no chance to win "Miss Conference title" themselves, rescued that beautiful heroine from Wooster's scintillating Scots and restored her to the arms of Mount Union where most of the audience believed she belonged.

* * *

The Scots, after wresting the prize from the Mounts in hand-to-hand combat, 55 to 42, on Feb. 22 for the second act denouement, surrendered to the Muskies 44 to 35 at New Concord as the curtain fell.

That left the Mounts with eight wins, one loss, and the championship in the Ohio league, while Wooster, winner of the crown the last two seasons, wound up next with 11 wins and two defeats. Muskingum, the giant killer, finished fifth with nine wins and four setbacks. The Mounts, coached by astute Bob Wright, also grabbed the state title with 14 victories and a single defeat.

It was just five years ago that Muskingum ruined another Wooster surge toward the title. The two teams met at New Concord in the final tilt of the season, with the winner taking the laurels. Wooster, with the great Nick Frascella in the lineup, was an odds-on choice to win, just as it was last week, but Muskingum grabbed the verdict and the championship by holding Frascella to three points, the lowest mark of his entire career.

DOMINION ELECTRICS TRIMMED AT NEWARK

Dominion Electric maple knockers were defeated by 288 pins by the Fairfield Stages in a match at Newark yesterday. Harold Geiger turned in a 633 total for the Dominions, and a 226 game, but Newark had three men over 600, led by Francis with 644.

WANTS YOUNG BLOOD

LAKELAND, Fla. —(AP)— Del Baker is hoping to get some young blood into the Detroit Tigers infield this year and one of the possibilities is Murray Franklin, rookie third baseman from the University of Illinois by way of Beaumont. "He's the first third baseman I've seen go down after a ball since Ossie Bluege of Washington came into the league," appraised Baker.

JOE LOOKS GOOD

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. —(AP)— The transfer of Joe Gordon to first base is beginning to look better for the New York Yankees. He fielded 16 chances, some of them difficult, without a flaw yesterday and is learning the knack of surrounding low and wide throws from his teammates.

Old Rockin' Chair's Got Him

Giles Worried By Cards

Sees Young Hurlers as St. Louis Flag Hope.

TAMPA, Fla. —(AP)— "I'm not worried so much about Brooklyn as I am about St. Louis," said General Manager Warren Giles of the world champion Cincinnati Reds as he squirmed with every pitch during an exhibition game here.

* * *

"If some of their young pitchers come through, the Cardinals are going to be mighty tough. Here's something a lot of people don't realize. From last July 8 until the end of the season the Cards played better ball than we did.

* * *

"I mean, if the race had begun that day they would have finished a game and a half in front of us, with Pittsburgh third and Brooklyn a poor fourth. In other words, they played championship ball after Billy Southworth took over, and they'll have him managing from the start this time.

"However, I'm not too worried about it. "We're going to be stronger ourselves and we're still the club that's got the pitching. All that talk about Paul Derringer being overweight was just somebody hoping. I never saw him report in as fine shape and they'll have to go on looking at him and Bucky Walters and Gene Thompson and Whitey Moore every few days.

"I think we've got better reserve strength all around. Now that he have Jim Gleeson in our outfield we have three of the National league's top seven hitters of last year. That's nice punch with him and Ernie Lombardi and Buck McCormick hitting in a bunch. I would say that we could lose almost any player for a while except McCormick without being seriously hurt.

"Look at that stop and throw Eddie Joost just made at short. That's why we're not worrying about the loss of Billy Myers. Joost isn't frail. He's just tall and thin, like Marion of the Cardinals. He's played complete seasons in the minors and expects to do it for us.

* * *

"With Lombardi holding out, Dick West has had a chance to do some catching, and he looks great. Bill (McKechnie) is very pleased with him. He's hitting the ball hard and is fast as a streak, something unusual for a catcher.

* * *

"Not that we particularly need more pitching, but don't be surprised if Monte Pearson turns in a dozen or 15 wins for us. Before we bought him from the Yankees he gave us absolute assurance that his arm was in good shape and that he wanted to pitch. Gosh knows he tied the National league into knots in four straight world series—including us. He gave us only two hits."

Defending Champs Toppled

12 District Schoolboy Cage Titlists Lose.

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—With 12 defending district champions already eliminated, 169 Ohio schoolboy basketball teams poised today for the final week's dash toward the prized goal of 32 berths in the state hardwood extravaganza at Columbus.

* * *

The first week of sectional and district playoffs reduced the field to 81 survivors in class A and 88 in class B including New Philadelphia, last year's state class A rulers, among the victims.

* * *

New Carlisle, the defending class B state titlist, had been eliminated previously in the Clark county tourney.

So far six class A and six class B squads among the 16 in each class at the 1940 state finals have fallen by the wayside. Besides New Philly in the class A list, there are Canton Lehman, Cincinnati Woodward, Columbus Central, Bellevue and Findlay. Joining New Carlisle among the discards in class B are Amanda, Germantown, Willshire, Waynesburg and Holgate.

Cambridge jolted New Philadelphia out of further consideration with a 41 to 38 conquest Saturday night in the eastern district.

* * *

Bellefontaine, battling for a third consecutive trip to the Columbus finals, bumped off previously unbeaten Miamisburg, 27 to 26, in the southwestern district Saturday.

* * *

Miamisburg's first loss, in 22 starts left Greenfield McClain, Middletown, and Springfield township as the only undefeated class A outfits in the state for the season.

Springfield township has tough going ahead in the final rounds of the "dog and cat" Northeastern district meet at Akron where four defending champions — Massillon, Akron South, Canton McKinley and Akron Buchtel—are scrapping for only three 1941 Columbus berths. The Northeastern setup was split up this year into separate meets at Akron, Euclid Shore and Youngstown.

Middletown overpowered Dayton Dunbar and Dayton Kiser in its initial tourney tests last week. The Middies tangle with Dayton Fairview, a state finalist last year, in a feature match at Dayton Wednesday night.

* * *

Greenfield rolled over Logan impressively, 35 to 20, in its only tournament test so far at Athens where Marietta is the defending champion.

The last district playoff to get underway starts tonight at Toledo where 12 class A clubs battle for the district crown now worn by Toledo Waite.

Dick Shrider, sharpshooting star, bagged 40 points for Glenford Saturday night as the Perry county champions swamped Mercerville, in the highest scoring spree of the week. Glenford, a state semi-finalist last March, looks certain of another attempt for higher honors at Columbus next week.

Newark, class A state champion in 1936 and 1938, is a favorite to make another trip to Columbus after impressive victories in its initial two games in the Central District meet at Delaware. Newark plays Marion Harding in the district semi-finals Friday.

* * *

Coshocton is favored to replace new Philadelphia in the Eastern District meet at Denison while Martins Ferry, defending titlist, is the team to beat at Tiltonville in the same district.

The 1941 heirs of the famous Waterloo Wonders from Lawrence county stay in the running in the class B meet at Waverly.

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. —(AP)—Manager Frankie Frisch says "not more than three pitchers have clinched" their jobs with the Pittsburgh Pirates. EXPECT JAM ON FINAL WEEK TO PAY INCOME TAX

Mansfielders Still Wait In Long Lines; City's Figures 10 Per Cent Higher.

Final week to file income tax reports at the Internal Revenue offices in the postoffice building started today. Deadline for last of the defense tax bill.

The Internal Revenue offices have remained open every Saturday afternoon during March to facilitate filing of returns by those who work. A. L. Wentz, deputy collector, stated that the office would be open Saturday afternoon, the last day until 4 p. m.

According to an estimate by Wentz, Mansfield returns are showing an increase over last year's figure. A treasury report of last week stated that national returns this year were about 58 per cent of the total figures of previous years. This is approximately 10 per cent above the figure for the same period last year, the report stated. Wentz said that the Mansfield figures were approximately the same as the national returns.

Reason for the increase is that more Americans are paying more taxes than ever before as a result of the Defense tax bill.

In addition to Wentz, C. L. Mosey and three deputy assistants from the Cleveland office of Internal Revenue comprise a force of five to handle the Mansfield returns.

THEATERS

Guests of Theater.

Mansfield Sea Scouts will be guests of the management of the Ritz theater this evening for the double feature bill, featuring "Flight Command." Practically every thrill within the experience of American naval aviators is crammed into this dramatic story of the air. Robert Taylor, Ruth Hussey and Walter Pidgeon have the leading roles. Co-attraction "Second Chorus," starring Fred Astaire and Paulette Goddard in their latest song and dance film.

* * *

Southern Heritage.

"Virginia," the technicolor film at the Ohio, tells the story of a Southern girl who has been away so long from the ancestral home in Virginia that she's forgotten what Southern tradition means. Returning, broke, to sell the old place, she falls in love with a Virginian who brings her to a realization of her Southern heritage. Madeleine Carroll, Fred MacMurray and a newcomer, Stirling Hayden, are in the leading roles.

* * *

First Single Feature.

For the first time in six years there will be a single feature at the Majestic. For the re-showing of "Boom Town" the management will have but the one film and a March of Time program. "Britain's Royal Air Force." These will be seen Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Clark Gable, Claudette Colbert, Spencer Tracy and Hedy Lamarr are the leading players in "Boom Town," which gives the history of the oil business.

* * *

Swing Music.

What happens when a spinster music teacher who spends her life hammering Chopin and Beethoven into bored school children suddenly gets in the groove and stars writing swing music for hepcats, provides the fun in "Let's Make Music, the picture feature at the Park. This features Bob Crosby and Jean Rogers. Co-attraction is "Friendly Neighbors," with the Weaver Bros. and Elviry and a large supporting cast.

Illegal Marriage.

The story of "Mr. and Mrs. Smith," at the Madison, is particularly adapted to the fun-making talents of the two stars, Carole Lombard and Robert Montgomery. Their domestic rules work out fine until it is learned that because of an error in a land survey their marriage is illegal. The husband's ill-timed sense of humor leads him to conceal the discovery, and this infuriates his wife, who decides she won't remarry him.

SALE

Sealed proposals will be received until 10 o'clock a. m. March 15, 1941, at the office of Madison Township Trustees for the sale of one-half ton Ford V-8 Pick-up Truck.

Said truck can be seen at Richland County Garage, North Main Street, Mansfield.

Card of Thanks

WE WISH to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to our friends, neighbors and relatives for the sympathy and kindness shown us during the illness and death of our dear father, Charles L. Davis. To the ones who sent the beautiful flowers; the singers, the pallbearers, and to Rev. Thompson and Rev. Robertson for their comforting words. Especially to do want to thank Mr. and Mrs. E. R. UPickering for their kindness in granting us so many privileges and the Clarence Keiser family for their many kind deeds and faithful assistance all during our father's illness.
Mrs. Alva Daugherty,
Blanche and May Davis.

WE WISH to thank all friends and neighbors for their kindness during the illness and death of our beloved husband and father; to Rev. C. A. Portz for his consoling words; John S. Jones Funeral Home for their efficient service, to soldier boys participating, to Gardner garage and others who furnished cars; also to those who sent flowers.
Mrs. Edward Welch and Family.

WE WISH to thank our neighbors, friends and relatives for their kindness and sympathy during the illness and death of our beloved husband and father, Mr. John W. Clingan. Those who sent the beautiful floral tributes and to Rev. H. W. Middleton and Rev. S. M. Dickey for their consoling words and to the Finefrock Funeral Directors for their efficient service.
Mrs. Minnie Clingan and Family.

RESOLUTION NO. 41-36

By Mr. Berg:

Declaring it necessary to improve Wood Street from Cline Avenue to Ruth Avenue by grading the street and paving the roadway with concrete, brick, block, sheet asphalt or other suitable material and constructing the necessary curbing, headers, storm drainage, etc.

Be it Resolved by the Council of the City of Mansfield, State of Ohio, Three-Fourths of all Members elected concurring:

SEC. 1.—That it is necessary to improve Wood Street from Cline Avenue to Ruth avenue by grading the street and paving the roadway with concrete, brick, block, sheet asphalt or other suitable material and constructing the necessary curbing, headers, storm drainage, etc.

Sec. 2.—That the grade of said street as improved shall be the established grade, and that the grade of the curbs shall be as established.

SEC. 3.—That the plans, specifications, estimates and profiles of the proposed improvement heretofore prepared by the City Civil Engineer and now on file in the office of the Department of Public Service, be and the same are hereby approved.

SEC. 4.—That the whole cost of said improvement, less the cost of intersections and one-fiftieth of the total cost shall be assessed by the foot front upon the following described lots and lands, to-wit, all lots and lands bounding and abutting upon the proposed improvement which said lots and lands are hereby determined to be specifically benefitted by said improvement, and the cost of said improvement shall include the expense of printing, publishing and serving the necessary legal notices, the printing and publishing of the necessary resolutions and ordinances, the cost of construction and inspection together with interest on bonds issued in anticipation of the collection of deferred assessments, and all other necessary expenditures.

SEC. 5.—That the assessments so to be levid shall be paid in five annual installments, with interest on deferred payments at the same rate as borne by the bonds to be issued therefor; provided that the owner of any property assessed may, at his option, pay such assessment in cash within thirty days from and after the passage of the assessing ordinance in which case said cash assessment shall not include any item of interest upon bonds to be issued in anticipation of the collection of deferred installments of assessments.

SEC. 6—That bonds of the City of Mansfield shall be issued in anticipation of the collection of assessments by installments and in an amount equal thereto.

SEC. 7.—That the remainder of the entire cost of said improvement, not specially assessed, including the cost of intersections, together with the cost of any real estate or interest therein, purchased or appropriated, and the cost and expense of the appropriation proceeding therefor, and the damages awarded any owner of adjoining or abutting lands and interest thereon, and the cost and expense of such award shall be paid by the City of Mansfield, Ohio, in the manner provided by law.

SEC. 8.—This resolution shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

Passed March 4, 1941.
Signed: HOWARD G. MILLER,
President of Council.
Attest: WM. J. BEER, JR.,
Clerk of Council.
Approved W. J. LOCKE,
Mayor.

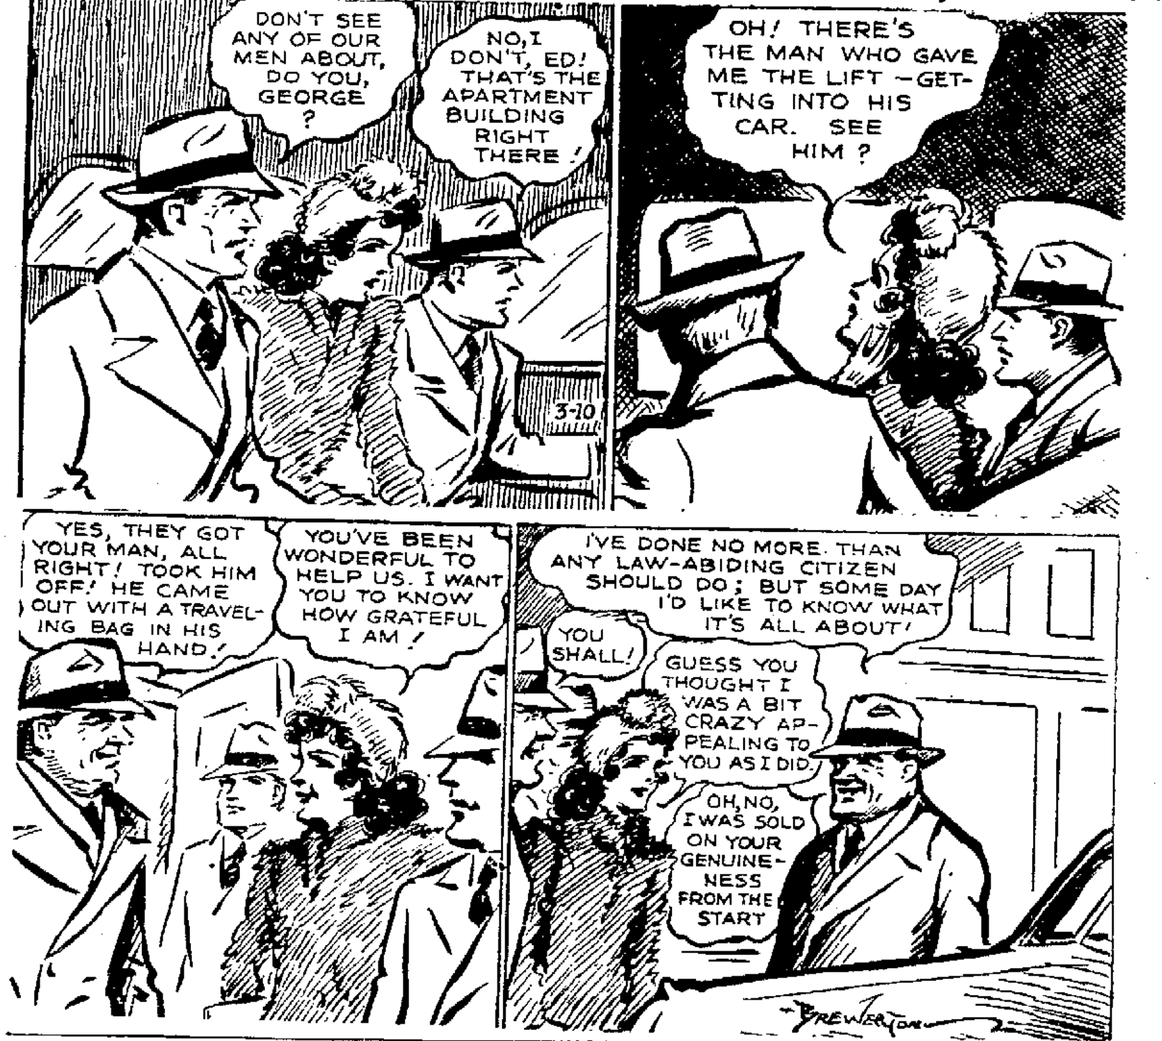
PAM—Not Too Late!

By A. W. Brewerton



DON'T SEE ANY OF OUR MEN ABOUT, DO YOU, GEORGE ?
NO, I DON'T, ED! THAT'S THE APARTMENT BUILDING RIGHT THERE !
3-10
OH! THERE'S THE MAN WHO GAVE ME THE LIFT—GETTING INTO HIS CAR. SEE HIM ?
YES, THEY GOT YOUR MAN, ALL RIGHT! TOOK HIM OFF! HE CAME OUT WITH A TRAVELING BAG IN HIS HAND!
YOU'VE BEEN WONDERFUL TO HELP US. I WANT YOU TO KNOW HOW GRATEFUL I AM !
I'VE DONE NO MORE THAN ANY LAW-ABIDING CITIZEN SHOULD DO; BUT SOME DAY I'D LIKE TO KNOW WHAT IT'S ALL ABOUT!
YOU SHALL!
GUESS YOU THOUGHT I WAS A BIT CRAZY APPEALING TO YOU AS I DID.
OH, NO, I WAS SOLD ON YOUR GENUINENESS FROM THE START

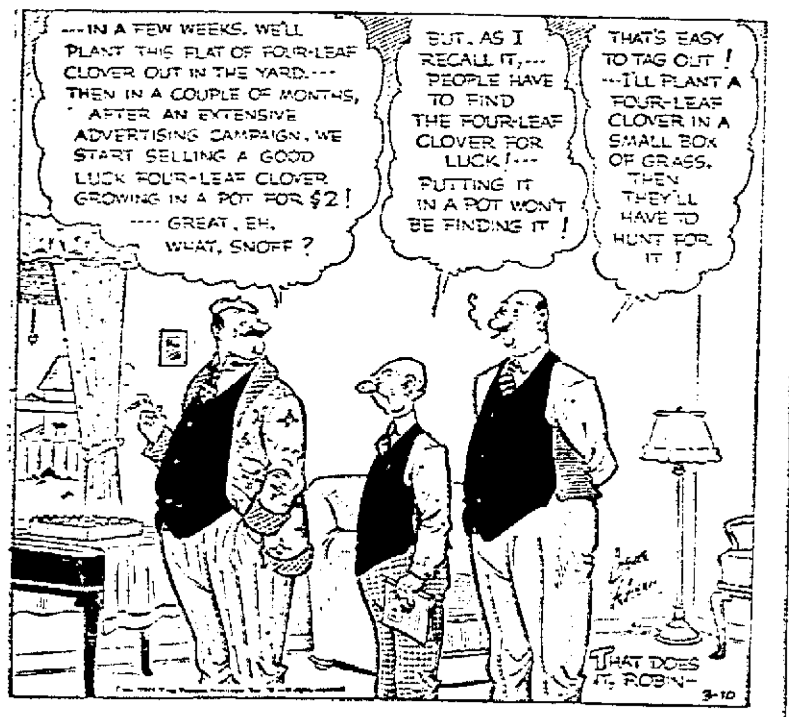
JUDGE PUFFLE—

By Gene Ahern



---IN A FEW WEEKS, WE'LL PLANT THIS FLAT OF FOUR-LEAF CLOVER OUT IN THE YARD.--- THEN IN A COUPLE OF MONTHS, AFTER AN EXTENSIVE ADVERTISING CAMPAIGN, WE START SELLING A GOOD LUCK FOUR-LEAF CLOVER GROWING IN A POT FOR $2! ---- GREAT, EH, WHAT, SNOFF ?
BUT, AS I RECALL IT,--- PEOPLE HAVE TO FIND THE FOUR-LEAF CLOVER FOR LUCK!--- PUTTING IT IN A POT WON'T BE FINDING IT !
THAT'S EASY TO TAG OUT ! ---I'LL PLANT A FOUR-LEAF CLOVER IN A SMALL BOX OF GRASS. THEN THEY'LL HAVE TO HUNT FOR IT !
THAT DOES IT, ROBIN—

STEEL BUYING AIDS MARKET KEEP BALANCE

Cotton Futures Jump More Than $1 Per Bale; Bonds Mixed.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Buying of steels and specialties today aided the stock market in maintaining its balance.

Attracting support were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic, Steel, American Sugar refining, Fajado Sugar, General Electric, Chrysler, N. Y. Central, United Aircraft, Sperry, U. S. Rubber and American Telephone.

Among commodities, cotton futures jumped more than $1 a bale in early transactions. Other staples were uneven. Bonds were a trifle mixed.

Market students scanned the survey of the magazine "Steel" which reported many metal consumers were turning to fourth-quarter needs and that second-quarter steel was available on only a few items.

"Some steel users," the review observed, "have implied they are willing to buy for 1942 delivery, but producers are not yet ready."

Helpful were estimates from Detroit that retail sales of new cars and trucks in February rose contra-seasonally to a new record for the month.

Y.W.C.A. Clubs To Join Observance Of Business Week

Mansfield's three Y. W. C. A. employed girls' clubs will join together to celebrate a nation-wide observance of business girls' week, at the Y. W., Wednesday at 6:30 p. m.

The three clubs, Garcia, Alpha Sigma Rho and Beta Epsilon, will be one of 500 Y. W. groups throughout the nation participating in the project. Theme of the programs will be "Vitalize Democracy."

Feature of the Wednesday observance will be an address, "Responsibility Accepted," by Mrs. John Linsenmyer, recently returned from a national convention of the foreign division of the Y. W. Her subject will be concerned with the effect of the war upon Y. W. C. A. work in foreign countries.

Program for the local group will consist of group singing, led by Frances Carter; devotions led by Lue Dora Black; and a talk by Marie Hoover upon foreign Y. W. groups.

Presidents of the Mansfield clubs are: Katherine Johnsen, Beta Epsilon; Frances Armstrong, Garcia and Cora Linder, Alpha Sigma Rho. Members of the committee in charge of the program are Charlotte Gray, chairman, Marion Brangacio, Lue Dora Black, Carrie Lindsey, Isabelle Spears and Marie Hoover.

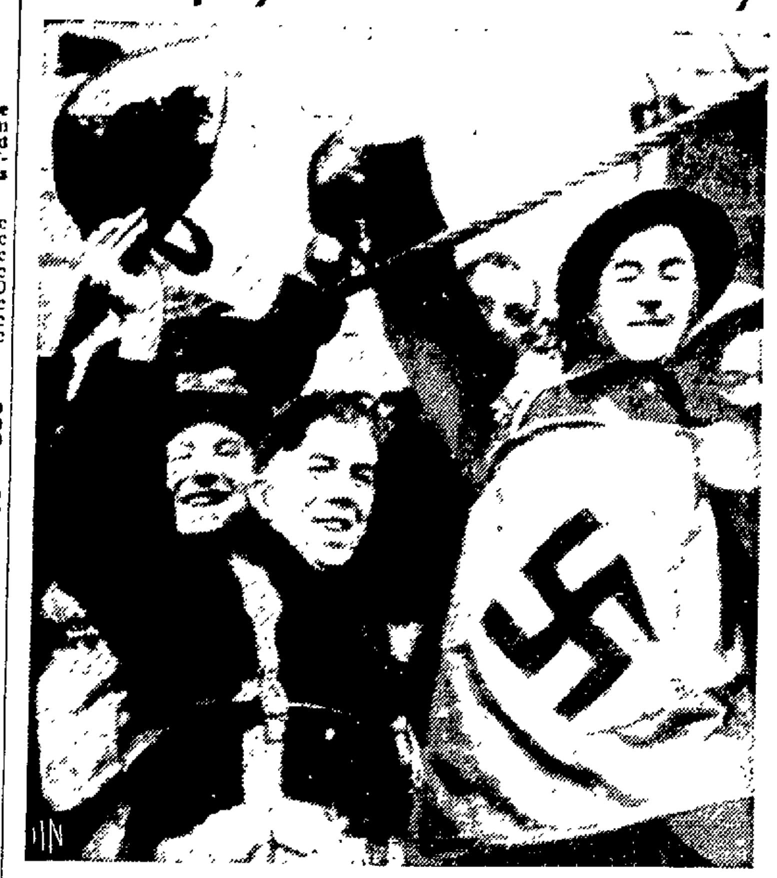
NAVY SEEKS 25,000 AIRMEN

NEW YORK—(INS)—The United States navy is preparing to enroll and train 25,000 men as naval reserve aviators to man the expanding air forces of the two-ocean navy, it was announced today.

Trophy Of Raid On Norway



British sailors, on return to England, hold a Nazi flag seized in their daring raid on the Nazi-held Norwegian Islands of Lofoten, off the coast of Norway. The British claim to have sent 11 German ships to the bottom, destroyed munition works and captured 215 German and 10 Norwegian anti-British prisoners.

NEW YORK BUS DRIVERS STRIKE, 875,000 SEEK NEW TRAVEL MODES

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — New York had its first major transportation strike in a quarter-century today as bus drivers on 27 routes serving 875,000 Manhattan and Queens residents staged a pre-dawn walkout.

At the appointed hour of 5 a. m., members of the Transport Workers union (CIO), whose attitude Mayor F. H. LaGuardia characterized as "bullheaded," returned their buses to garages and quit.

Drivers and other employes of the Fifth Avenue Coach company and the New York City Omnibus corporation, serving 95 per cent of Manhattan routes and one in Queens, are demanding among other benefits a 25 per cent wage increase and better working conditions. The two companies employ 3,500 men.

Picket lines were thrown around bus terminals and garages at the call of Austin Hogan, union president.

It was Manhattan's first bus strike and in it the second time that Mayor La Guardia's mediation attempts were spurned. Michael J. Quill, president of the National Transport Workers union, twice scorned the mayor's efforts, insisting the companies would not negotiate in good faith.

The mayor said in a letter to Quill:

"I must inform you that the threats of terror and violence reported in one New York City newspaper this morning cannot and will not be ignored. The responsibility will be fixed, should there be any violence at anytime anywhere."

DRAFTEE KILLED

Five Arrested In Fatal Beer Parlor Shooting.

PORTSMOUTH — (INS) — Five persons were under arrest today as Scioto county deputies investigated the fatal shooting of Herman Shaw, 24-year-old draftee, who police were told was shot when he attempted to act as peacemaker in a beer parlor fight.

J. H. Rose, 63, proprietor of the beer parlor, told deputies he fired in self defense after Shaw had struck him with a beer bottle. Rose was held along with Harold Zaph, 26, and Selsa Burton, 41, and Mr. and Mrs. Chester Ratliff, all of nearby Friendship.

According to the story told to deputies, the fight started when Zaph and Burton argued over a 50-cent bill. The Ratliff couple allegedly participated in the brawl before the draftee attempted to settle the fight, authorities were told.

4 DAMAGE SUITS SEEK $24,725

Shelby Motorist Defendant In Action Resulting From Auto Collision.

James Sutter, Shelby R. D. 2, was named today in four damage actions totaling $24,725 which were filed in Richland county common pleas court by persons allegedly injured in an accident involving Sutter's automobile.

Largest of the suits was filed by Thomas Wells, Nova R. D. 1, who asks $18,225 for injuries he received when the car in which he was a passenger allegedly was struck by one operated by Sutter last Aug. 11 on route 61 south of New Haven.

The other actions were brought by Bernard Martin, Cleveland, driver of the car in which Wells and two other persons were injured. Martin asks $1,000 to cover damages to his car and minor injuries received.

In a separate action, Martin also asks $3,000 damages for injuries suffered by his daughter, Miss Madeline Martin, Cleveland, who was riding with him.

The fourth suit, asking $2,500, was filed by Mary Martin, Cleveland, another passenger in the Martin car.

The plaintiffs contend Sutter was driving at excessive speed when his car swerved into one in which they were riding at a curve. Representing the plaintiffs are Attys. Brucker, Marriott and Eberly of Mansfield and Mooney, Hahn, Loeser, and Keough, Cleveland.

SNOW BARRAGE COVERS CUTTER

Driver Dumps Tons of 'Camouflage' on Coast Guard Ship.

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — Bob Seitz, engaged in snow clearance for the city, backed his five-ton truck to the edge of Pier 11 and tripped the dumping device.

Through the rumble of sliding snow and slush came enraged howls of protest. Alighting, Seitz looked down to find coast guard cutter 2312 piled high with snow.

He spent the next few hours under Bostswain's Mate Thomas J. Grant's orders, scrubbing down the decks.

TWELVE FIRE FIGHTERS DIE AS ROOF FALLS

MEN TRAPPED IN DEBRIS

(By Associated Press)

BROCKTON, Mass. — Twelve firemen were killed and 16 injured early today when the snow-laden roof of the 30-year old Strand theater collapsed during a fire which destroyed the building

The known dead were: Capt. John F. Carroll, 52; William Murphy, 25; Daniel O'Brien, 45; Henry Sullivan, 45; Malcolm McNeill, 40; Matthew Geary, 48; Lieut. Raymond A. Mitchell; Denis Murphy, Roy H. Keraghan, George Collins, Martin Lipper and Fred Kelley.

Approximately 25 men were trapped when the roof over the theater balcony caved in with a terrific roar. Most were released quickly and given emergency hospital treatment, but two bodies were carried out along with the living.

The bodies of four of the missing were not freed from the debris until daybreak, five hours after the fire was discovered. Hundreds of Sunday night movie goers had left the theater less than two hours before the fire took hold.

Trapped firemen screamed as flames licked at their hands and faces while they were caught in the debris.

A Catholic priest, Rev. Lawrence Morrisoe of St. Patrick's church, borrowed a fireman's helmet and rubber coat and went into the burning building to administer last rites to the dying and most seriously injured.

COPLAND QUITS

Governor Accepts Resignation of Cleveland Judge.

COLUMBUS —(U.P.)— Governor Bricker today accepted the proferred resignation of David Copland as a municipal judge in Cleveland.

Judge Copland whose disbarment was upheld last month by the Ohio supreme court submitted his resignation effective April 1 in a letter to the governor. Removal proceedings against him were pending in the legislature.

The disbarment action grew out of discovery of a fictitious law case reported in a legal journal by Judge Copland. He continued to hold office and draw a salary as judge after disbarment even though he was not permitted to hear any cases on the bench. His salary was $9000 annually.

STRIKERS HALT PAPER'S PRESSES

Pittsburgh Daily Fails To Publish Monday Editions.

PITTSBURGH —(U.P.)— Publication of the Post Gazette, Pittsburgh's only morning newspaper, was suspended "until further notice" today because of a strike. It published no Monday edition.

Striking circulation workers had picketed the newspaper's plant intermittently since Friday night and members of other craft unions refused to cross the picket line.

The striking circulation workers alleged that the company had violated its contract with the Pittsburgh Newspaper Alliance, a union of outside circulation workers.

Flood of Supplies Expected to Be Started to Britain This Week

House Concurs On Aid Tuesday

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON—(INS)—An effort will be made to have the house approve senate changes in the lease-lend bill this afternoon and President Roosevelt expects to send a formal request to congress this week for appropriations to launch the aid program, it was announced today.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—Final congressional action on the British aid bill appeared today to be but a matter of hours, and informed persons considered it probable that the vast supply of war materials thereby made available to Britain would start moving across the Atlantic within a few days.

Small naval vessels were reported to be the first defense articles slated for delivery immediately after the bill becomes law, with food supplies to follow.

Only house approval of relatively minor amendments inserted by the senate before it passed the legislation 60 to 31 Saturday night was needed to speed the momentous measure to the White House. Speaker Rayburn and Chairman Bloom (D-N.Y.) of the house foreign affairs committee predicted the approval would be given Tuesday.

Once the bill is signed into law the president is expected to make swift use of the authority thus gained to "sell, transfer title to, exchange, lease, lend or otherwise dispose of" guns, planes, ships, tanks and all other armaments and food supplies.

Signing of the bill, too, will clear the way for him to ask congress for the billions necessary to carry out the program. He also may announce promptly just how the program will be administered.

The bill vests full authority in him. To decide broad policy questions, however, he is expected to work through a cabinet committee of Secretaries Hull, Stimson, Knox and Morgenthau, with Harry Hopkins, former commerce secretary, as aide.

He is also expected to work through the office of production management on matters of production, and through army and navy chiefs on the release of existing materials.

Some authorities estimated today that during this year and the next two the total cost of lease-lend assistance would substantially exceed $10,000,000,000. Not only Britain but any other nations "whose defense the president deems vital to the defense of the United States" may benefit. These

LONDON—Great Britain, hailing senate passage of the lease-lend bill and looking forward to greater aid by the United States, tightened its food control system today and put the admiralty in charge of shipyard workers throughout the United Kingdom in preparation for a knockout fight against Germany.

Prospective enactment of the lease-lend bill was welcomed almost as much for its moral effect as for the physical aid it would bring Britain.

"Now the great productive machine of America is going in with the British commonwealth to pour out airplanes, ships and guns," said Labor Minister Ernest Bevin in a speech yesterday. "This overwhelming force, and the knowledge in Germany that the forces with which it started can not win, will create a psychological effect which will help break down the spirit of aggression in central Europe."

Jail City Worker As Robber of Park Meter Coin Boxes

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—William A. Decker, 52, a foreman in the city engineering department, was under arrest today charged with robbing the coin boxes of Columbus parking meters.

Police became suspicious of an "inside" job on several meter thefts when the mechanism of the meters was left undamaged although the coins were missing.

A trap was set with "marked" nickles and Decker was arrested when he was reported seen in the vicinity of robbed meters.

Police found two parking meter keys on Decker. He was charged with "forcing entry into a depository." Decker denied the charge.

CLEVELAND —(INS)— It was apparent today that Mrs. Mary Maggar, 34, had paid no heed to the story of a few weeks ago that a Cleveland man suffered severe burns when he lighted a cigaret immediately after applying shaving lotion.

Mrs. Maggar was recovering from severe burns in a hospital after trying the same thing following an alcohol rub-down. Her husband saved her from more serious injury when he wrapped her in a blanket to extinguish her burning night clothes.

Strike Closes Midland Steel Plant at Detroit.

DETROIT—(INS)— The Midland Steel Products Co., shut down today when 17,000 members of the United Automobile Workers' union (CIO) walked out on strike.

Work on bodies for automobile concerns filling truck contracts for the army stopped. Edward M. Owen, state labor board conciliator, said a deadlock in negotiations developed over the question of wages.

Meantime, the strike of 350 UAW members at the Federal Motor Truck company continued, holding up about $5,000,000 in defense orders. Wage scale and a union shop clause were reported the chief points in dispute.

Five Shelby, Shiloh Youths Arrested In Burglary Wave

Five Shelby and Shiloh youths, from 16 to 20 years old, rounded up over the week-end by Sheriff Frank E. Robinson, were believed today to hold the solution to a wave of burglaries in recent weeks in northern Richland county.

Another Shelby youth, Ted Brown, 21, was placed on six-months probation by Mayor W. H. Morris of Shelby after he admitted he drove an automobile for the youths on some of their trips. He was paroled to Police Chief Leroy Coffey of Shelby.

The five suspects, including three brothers who live near Shiloh, were taken to the county jail to await hearings scheduled for today. Three of the boys under 18 were to be taken before Judge Stuart H. Cramer in juvenile court.

Sheriff Robinson said two of the boys admitted the theft of gasoline, tires, storage batteries, auto horns, a radio, and other articles from garage, store rooms, and summer cottages in the Shelby and Shiloh communities.

The youths used the gasoline and a part of the auto accessories to keep their car running while the rest of the loot was sold to second hand dealers, the sheriff said. None of the boys were employed, he added.

Included in the loot was a radio, camp stove, a quantity of gasoline, and other articles stolen from the summer home of Herman Dick near Shelby, authorities said.

Hammer, Knife Guide Police In Hunt For Girl's Slayer

(By Associated Press)

KANSAS CITY—Clumsily abandoned, blood-stained weapons of death guided police today in the search for the killer who beat pretty Miss Leila Adele Welsh, 24, with a stone mason's hammer, slashed her with a butcher knife and fled with a deeply cut section of her hip.

The body of the socially prominent brunet, her pajamas in shreds, was found in her bedroom yesterday morning by her mother, Mrs. Marie F. Welsh, who went to awaken the daughter to attend church.

Miss Welsh, a 1937 beauty contestant at the University of Kansas City, had been slain during the night by a person who apparently entered through a bedroom window of the Welsh home in a well-to-do section. Her head had been fractured in several places and her throat severely slashed.

There were mud tracks on the window sill. Tucked in a neck wound was a man's shirt, minus its collar.

MISHAPS KILL SCORE IN STATE

As Ohio chalked up its second consecutive week-end in which more than a score of persons were killed on highways of the state, Mansfield and Richland county escaped with no serious injuries reported Sunday and early today.

At Bucyrus four persons were hospitalized as the result of an accident at midnight Saturday on route 67 near the Crawford county seat when cars driven by Kenneth Ankney, 37, Sycamore, and Alvin Aichholz, Attica, sideswiped.

In the hospital were Ankney, with head and face injuries; his wife, Ollie, 36, who sustained a fractured leg; his brother, Elmer, 41, with a dislocated hip; and Mildred Aichholz, 22, who was riding with her father.

Miss Aichholz received face lacerations and head injuries when she was struck by a hit-skip driver as she stepped from the car following the crash. Aichholz sustained minor cuts and bruises.

New Tuberculosis Hospital Planned For Mount Vernon

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—State Welfare Director Charles L. Sherwood said today that plans have been drawn up to establish a new $300,000 hospital at Mount Vernon for the treatment of tubercular insane patients as part of the department's $3,475,000 building program. The hospital would have a capacity of 500 patients.

"It would take $500,000 to build an adequate unit but we probably will build a $300,000 building and send only women patients there at first and see how things work out," Sherwood said.

Sherwood said Mount Vernon was chosen as site for the new hospital because of the climate and high altitude.

Plans for the rest of the building have not been completed, the director said. A total of $1,400,000 will be expended for building replacement and rehabilitation and $2,900,000 for sites and construction of new buildings he said.

Passage of Aid Measure Called Open War Move

(By Associated Press)

Virginia Gayda, Fascist editorial spokesman, declared today that the British aid bill was "open intervention in the war against the Axis" which eventually may bring into play the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo pact "with many disagreeable surprises to England and the United States in the Pacific.

"Isolated in its elementary reality," he declared, "Roosevelt's gesture is a deliberate, unprovoked move toward war."

He called it a violation of The Hague convention on the rights and duties of a neutral and said:

"So President Roosevelt voluntarily and publicly takes the United States out of the neutrality which already has been much violated in the past month and renews Wilson's warlike policy, afterward disapproved by the senate. . . .

"No excuse may be claimed for the change to the figure of a new aggressor which Roosevelt is preparing to attribute to the United States, dragging their people into an adventure which they do not seek and on which they have not been called to express an opinion under the sacred principles of democracy."

Admitting only the possibility that passage of the bill would prolong and complicate the war, the authoritative editor declared the bill could not affect its outcome.

"It is not enough that arms, munitions and other war means leave the United States," he said. "They must reach their destination.

"The Axis counter-blockade is more than ever determined to bar passage of all supplies to England. It is more than ever armed to sustain this resolution with quick, massive efficiency."

Gayda reiterated the Italian assertion that the Axis never had interfered in American affairs nor menaced America, calling charges of such a menace a "fable."

France rebelled against the British blockade today, threatening to convoy and arm French merchant ships if the blockade continued: and in London, informed quarters indicated that it would be enforced regardless of French counter-measures.

In the Far East, new danger signals arose. British authorities in Singapore warned residents to be ready on 48 hours' notice to move from "areas where it is expected fighting will take place if Singapore is attacked from the sea."

Japan is reported to have massed a strong fleet of warships within quick striking distance of the British naval stronghold, a $150,000,000 citadel at the crossroads of the China seas and the Indian ocean.

France's vice premier, Admiral Jean Darlan, made a surprise statement defying the British blockade. Jean Achard, secretary of food supply, declared 18 million bushels of wheat from the United States were urgently needed for unoccupied France.

Darlan described the blockade as "imbecile" and asserted:

RAID: Nazi Planes Batter London During Mid-Morning

(By Associated Press)

LONDON—The scream of sirens warned of Nazi raiders over London in mid-morning today after the heaviest week-end of air attacks since the fire bomb raids of last Dec. 29.

The all clear came in half an hour, however, without any reports of damage or casualties.

The sun broke through high clouds over the strait of Dover.

One daylight raider machine-gunned the streets of an east coast town, then was driven off by anti-aircraft fire from a ship it attempted to attack off the coast.

Rescue crews dug into the bomb-strewn debris of a three-story London building, looking for two fire watchers believed on the roof when the bomb hit.

Another explosive damaged a theater last night. Four policemen were killed in a hit on a station house. Another building was destroyed but 150 persons, mostly women and children, escaped unhurt from a shelter in the basement.

Some Londoners regarded the quickened pace of the raids, concentrated on Britain's capital for two successive nights, as signaling the start of long-predicted full force spring air siege.

The capital had three alarms last night — one starting shortly before nightfall and lasting four hours, and two short alarms after midnight.

Sections along the south coast also were bombed and the roar of planes was heard overhead at scores of communities from north-eastern Scotland to South Wales.

DELAY: Yugoslavs Postpone Signing, Strengthen Defenses

(By United Press)

BELGRADE — Signature of a Yugoslav-German non-aggression pact, which had been scheduled for tomorrow, may be postponed for a day or two, usually reliable informants reported today. The postponement was connected in diplomatic quarters with new defense measures Yugoslavia had taken, resulting in a redistribution of military units

It was even suggested in some quarters that there were signs of German disapproval of these defense measures and that it might be responsible for postponing the signing of a non-aggression accord.

Well-informed sources said that regardless of any postponement, the accord was sure to be signed within a few days.

Informants said that Premier Dragisha Cvetkovitch and Foreign Minister Alexander Cincar-Markovitch might leave for Berlin tomorrow in a special German airplane which was expected here today.

Foreign diplomatic circles followed with great interest both Yugoslav diplomatic negotiations with Germany and measures Yugoslavia has been carrying out in connection with its defense simultaneously but independently.

Diplomats say that in both negotiations and defense measures, Yugoslavia has been motivated by a realistic spirit.

Foreign diplomats have been particularly interested in the fact that the defense measures are aimed at assuring that any emergency would find Yugoslavia able to put all its forces in the field along a defense line which could best be held against an attack.

second most powerful navy. France still has several strong units of her fleet in operation—enough to form a serious threat to British power if France should decide to fight. The Vichy government declared that 108 French merchantment have been seized by the British since the French-German armistice last June.

Greek troops still struggling to take strategic Tepeleni in Albania were reported today to have smashed two Italian divisions, taken 2,350 prisoners, and killed or wounded two members of Premier Mussolini's official family in three days' fighting.

These officers also said Giuseppe Bottai, Italian education minister, and Tullio Cianetti, undersecretary of corporations, were casualties of the fighting.

The two had left their Rome posts, with other Italian officials, for the Albanian front and were members of the Julia divisions, which with the Ferrara division, was said to have suffered heavily in the fierce series of attacks and counter blows.

At the same time, it was said that Gen. Ugo Cavallero, Italian chief of the state commanding in Albania, had been removed and his post assigned to Gen. Carlo Gelloso, 11th army commander.

In the simmering Balkans, diplomatic quarters in Belgrade reported Russia was concentrating troops in the Caucasus near Turkey's Asiatic frontier—supposedly as a precaution against the possibility of a German army rolling through Turkey.

Both the Turkish and Greek press continued their anti-German tone, as some sources expressed fear a German thrust into Greece, or perhaps Turkey, might be imminent. The Turkish paper Yeni Sabah, was suspended temporarily by the council of ministers after German Ambassador Franz Von Papen complained of the anti-German tone of its editorials.

In Africa, British forces apparently were aiming to cut Ethiopia in two. One force driving from Fer-Fer in Italian Somaliland covered 145 miles in three days to reach Gabre-Darra in the Ogaden desert.

This was the route of Marshal Rodolfo Graziani's invading armies in the Ethiopian campaign that pushed Haile Selassie from his throne, and the apparent British aim was to reach Diredawa and cut the Addis Ababa-Jibuti railway.

Another force composed of British and Ethiopian "patriots" entering Ethiopia from the northwest was said to be in pursuit of the Italians south of Lake Tana near Burye.

In Ertirea, British troops still were blocked by stiff Italian defenses at Cheren.

The British admiralty announced that the cruiser Leander, of the New Zealand squadron, sank a 3,670-ton Italian sea raider, Ramb 1, in the Indian ocean. The Italian ship was flying a British flag until challenged by the cruiser, the admiralty said.

Eleven officers and 89 men were captured by the British after five salvos from the Leander's guns set the ship afire.

Nazi air raiders gave London its heaviest week-end of attacks since the fire raid of Dec. 29 in two successive nights of protracted operations. Chief incidents included the blasting of a west end cabiret by a high explosive bomb, many casualties resulting, and a hit on a highway near a number of pedestrians.

Bad weather was reported to have kept the RAF from any major operations last night.

British Turn Down Hoover Food Plan

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The British government, reiterating determination to maintain a relentless blockade against Germany, has rejected Herbert Hoover's plan for establishment of soup kitchens in Belgium as a test of possible similar relief for other Nazi-occupied countries.

"No form of relief can be devised which would not directly or indirectly assist the enemy's war effort," said a statement made public yesterday by the British embassy.

Hoover, who had received an advance copy of the statement, said in a reply released simultaneously that "the stark fact is that millions of children, and the weak, are threatened with stunted bodies and death in the occupied lands unless relief is brought to them."

He asserted that none of the food shipped to Belgium would go to the Germans and that adoption of the plan would result in no military loss to the British or military gain to the Germans.

But the embassy statement, asserting there need be no famine or starvation in Nazi-occupied territories if the enemy would distribute its supplies equitably, [illegible] with this explanation of the plan's rejection:

"Even if it were admitted that immediate shortages of food were likely, the British government would regard it as false humanitarianism to agree to the admission of foodstuffs to the areas concerned, knowing as they do that the result of this action would be to prolong the war and to add in the long run to the sum of human misery."

Subs Wait Supply Ships, Berlin Warns

(By International News Service)

BERLIN—Any American ships carrying aid to Britain under terms of the lease-lend bill will be sunk the moment they pass Germany's "iron ring" of blockade around the British isles, Nazi military authorities reiterated today.

While the press lashed out at President Roosevelt as an 'absolute dictator" waging an undeclared war on Europe on behalf of Britain, officials emphasized that Adolf Hitler gave his answer to the bill on January 30, long before it was passed.

It was on that date the fuehrer announced that any ships carrying aid to Britain which came within the range of German U-boat torpedoes would be sunk, regardless of nationality.

"This was a clear warning to America," a spokesman said, "that if the president sends naval or merchant ships into the blockade zone they will be sunk on sight, the same as any other vessels crossing the deadline."

German quarters took the view that the United States, which before the war exerted a powerful influence in Europe and which all nations, including Germany, courted, has now become a definite belligerent.

America is waging undeclared war upon the Axis, it was said, and is conducting herself as an outright ally of England.

The young woman's mother said she had to force the door to her daughter's bedroom Sunday morning because a chair had been propped against it as though to bar entry.

may include Greece and China.

The great bulk of supplies, however, will go to beleaguered Britain with all speed possible. One authority said the first weapons to be furnished would be a number of navy mosquito boats, 60-mile an hour, torpedo-bearing craft, and probably some submarine chasers. Plans for delivery to the British were reported completed and needing only the authority of law to be made effective.

Both types of vessels, it was said, will be of great value to Britain in what her officials have termed the "battle of the Atlantic" and in event of Nazi invasion attempt.

The second major item in the administration's present plans for helping the British—plans which President Roosevelt has been forming with cabinet and other advisers for several weeks—was reported to be foodstuffs, release of which the aid bill specifically authorizes. Arrangements for shipping these commodities were said to have been perfected by the secretaries of agriculture, war and navy.

Apparently the job of transporting U. S.-made war equipment across the ocean will be up to the British.

The British aid bill specifically states that "nothing in this act shall be construed to authorize or permit the authorization of the entry of any American vessel into a combat area in violation of section 3 of the neutrality law of 1939."

That neutrality section prohibits American flag ships from entering combat areas which, under the president's neutrality proclamations, include all the waters around England and the northern European coast.

Soon after the bill passed President Roosevelt mentioned it during a radio broadcast to farmers. He reported that "the senate passed by a vote of about two-to-one the lend-lease bill for aid to the democracies of the world."

In his speech, on the eighth birthday anniversary of the AAA, Mr. Roosevelt asserted that "we cannot escape our collective responsibility for the kind of life that is going to emerge from the ordeal through which the world is passing today."

"We may discharge that responsibility unwisely," he said, "but we cannot escape the consequence of our choice."

With the possible needs of the British apparently in mind he also told his radio audience that "American agriculture is in a splendid condition to play its full part in the program of national defense."

EASTERN DOG WINS

CLEVELAND—(INS)—A wire-haired fox terrier, Crackley Striking of Wildoaks, owned by Mrs. R. C. Bondy of Goldens Bridge, N. Y., today was honored as the best in show at the 26th annual Western Reserve Kennel club dog show in Public hall.

PROBE CRASH

Authorities Check Wreckage of Plane In Which 3 Died.

WAUKESHA, Wis. — (INS) — Authorities today examined the wreckage of a three-seater plane for an explanation of the ship's 2,000-feet plunge into a field near the Waukesha airport yesterday, killing the pilot and two passengers.

The victims were Carl Breecher, the pilot, and George Christopherson, both of Waukesha, and Harry Smith of Milwaukee.

Czech Army In England Displays American Flag

CHICAGO—(INS)—The American Colors are going into action in defense of Britain as the battle-standard of the First Artillery Regiment of the Czecho-Slovak army in England.

This was disclosed by Dr. Jan Papanek, representative in Chicago of Eduard Benes, provisional president of the Czechoslovak Government-In-Exile.

While the Stars and Stripes will not be officially represented, the thirteen red and white stripes and the 48 stars on a blue field are displayed prominently in the regimental battle-standard.

Already accepted by the First Artillery Regiment, the battle-standard was presented by the American Sokols Union with participation by Sokols in Chicago. It was handed over to the regiment by Benes and Dr. Jan Masaryk, minister in the Czechoslovak provisional cabinet.

On one side of the standard is the Czechoslovak white lion, a Czech emblem. On the other are the Stars and Stripes, in the pattern of the American flag.

DIRECTOR'S IN

HOLLYWOOD — (INS) — Carson Kanin, noted film director, today was ordered to report for induction into the army tomorrow for a year of military training.

"My duty and responsibility are very clear," the 28-year-old director declared. "I am delighted to go."

MYSTERIOUS CRUTCHES

BOSTON — (INS) — The Boston and Maine railroad is wondering whether one of its coaches provided the setting for a miracle. A trainman, searching the coach at the end of a run, found a pair of crutches—adult size, in good condition. Other members of the crew were questioned but none recalled seeing a cripple leaving without the crutches. There has been no inquiry concerning the loss of a pair of crutches.

SQUADRON TO BE MOVED

WASHINGTON—(UP)—The war department announced today that the second weather squadron will be moved permanently from Langley Field, Va., to Patterson Field, at Dayton, about April 1.

WRANGLE OVER STATE REVENUE STIRS POLITICS

Ohio Democrats Say Treasury Will Be Bulging, G. O. P. Claims 'Just Enough.'

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—Probably not in the last 25 years has the old form of politics been so rampant in an Ohio legislature as in the present session.

Whether this is due to a more aggressive minority or to more fertile fields in which to browse is difficult to diagnose. Possibly it is a combination of the two.

It certainly is not because of the close division between Republicans and Democrats, for there have been times when the gap was narrower.

The focal point of the political bantering is in the state treasury—the money in it or expected during the next two years.

Gov. John W. Bricker contends the money will just about be sufficient for normal operation of the state government, provide increases for old age pensions and welfare maintenance and to finance a welfare and university building program of little more than $7,000,000.

This is disputed by the Democrats, who insist the treasury will be bulging with unneeded money at the end of the biennium. They argue the governor's estimate of revenues was "purposely" too conservative so that a large surplus will be built up.

The Democrats contend the governor, about mid-1942, will call a special session of the legislature to reduce taxes as a prelude to seeking a third term and, if successful therein, insure himself a front seat in the row of 1944 presidential possibilities.

Therefore, the Democrats apparently are out to prevent a treasury surplus and circumvent thereby a tax reduction in 1942, wet blanketing any third-term and presidential aspirations the governor may entertain.

If there is a possibility of a treasury surplus, the Democrats also insist taxes should be reduced forthwith so the "overburdened taxpayer" may benefit immediately.

It is impossible to determine definitely at this time whether as charged by the Democrats, Bricker is playing politics with the budget and treasury revenues. His estimate or revenues may be correct or even too high. Time and their actual payment into the treasury alone will tell.

In his budget message to the legislature, the governor took cognizance of the movement by "special groups" for tax reductions and said:

"If ever the time comes for the reduction of taxes in this state, which we all hope may come, all interested ought to be considered. All tax problems ought to be analyzed and all tax reduction demands evaluated in the light of public interest rather than any special interest."

HOW YOU CAN GET A $100 LOAN REPAID IN 12 INSTALLMENTS AT A COST OF 4¢ A DAY

You can get $100 to pay old debts or other expenses if you can repay $9.46 a month for 12 months—Loans made without endorsers or guarantors—A simple, private way to borrow.

HAVE unusual expenses caught you short of ready cash? Do you need money to pay old bills? If you have a steady job, you can readily borrow $20 to $500—and repay in small monthly installments.

Suppose that you need $100. Find this amount in the first column of the table. Then read across picking out the monthly payment you wish to make. 12 monthly installments of $9.46 each, for instance, will repay a $100 loan in full. The cost, in this case, averages less than 4c a day.

You may prefer smaller payments. Only $4.46 a month for 30 months will also repay a $100 loan. The amount you borrow and the time you take to repay it determines the cost. You can borrow $25 for two months, for instance, for only 76c.

Borrow for less

Installments in the table include all charges at Household's rate of 2½% per month on that part of a balance not exceeding $300, and ½% per month on that part of a balance in excess of $300. This rate is less than the maximum prescribed by the Small Loan Law. Every customer gets the benefit of this rate—whether new customer or former borrower.

Simple to get a loan

All you do to apply for your loan is to acquaint us with your problem. Loans are made on furniture, car or note. This spares you the embarrassment of asking friends or fellow-workers to act as endorsers. At no time do we ask friends or relatives about your credit. If you should get sick or lose your job while paying on your loan, we will show you every consideration.

You are invited to phone or visit us for further information at any time. No obligation to borrow!

Dairymen Given Judgment In Crash Damage Suit.

Winning a verdict on their cross-petition in a traffic damage suit, John Kobak and L. Gruin, doing business as Miller's Pure Test Milk company, Mansfield, were awarded $396 by a jury in common pleas court.

The judgment covered damages to the firm's truck in a collision with an automobile driven by R. B. Kenton, Mansfield, last Sept. 23 at South Adams and South Diamond streets.

Kenton filed the original action against Kobak and Gruin, seeking $5,150 damages for injuries he allegedly received in the crash and damages to his automobile.

Attys. Beam and Beam and Frank S. Culp represented Kenton and Atty. John C. O' Donnell was counsel for the defendant who won the verdict.

JUDGE LIBERAL

HELENA, Mont. — (INS) —Men get a little consideration in Montana, when P. J. Hinton, a Canadian, was haled into federal district court in Helena on charges of drunkenness. Judge James H. Baldwin declared: "Ever since 1862 (When Montana became a territory) it has been a man's privilege to get drunk every 30 days." Hinton was released.

Group Drinking Barred By 1639 Boston Blue Law

BOSTON—(U.P.)—Three hundred years ago Massachusetts citizens were forbidden by law to drink liquor with another person.

Research by the WPA Historical Records Survey shows that in 1639 the "General Court" ruled that the "common practice of drinking one to another is a mere useless ceremony, and draweth that abominable practice of drinking healths."

Such imbibing together was described as "an occasion of much waste of the good creatures, and of many other sinns, an drunkennes, quarelling, bloudshed, uncleannes, mispense of precious time."

The ordinance stiplated a 12-pence penalty—about 24 cents—for each violator. The person reporting such law-breaking got half the amount and the remainder went to the use of the town where the offense occurred.

Arsenal and Larder of Democracy

THE LEASE-LEND LAW, which will probably be in effect by Wednesday, serves to place the United States on record as agreeing with Great Britain that brutal aggression by the Axis powers must be stopped.

This is no more than official recognition of a fact which has become increasingly evident during the past year, as one after another of the small independent nations of Europe fell before the onslaught of Hitler's superior military strength.

Now the British Isles are under serious threat and stand valiantly as the last phase of resistance against spread of totalitarianism to the Western Hemisphere.

During the heat of argument over provisions of the lease-lend bill it has been variously contended that enactment of this measure "will take us into the war" and that it "will keep us out of the war."

Neither of these views seems justified by the present situation or by a study of what has already occurred in Europe and other parts of the world.

Ever since America's entry into the World war in 1917 the attitude of this nation has been definitely in alignment with the purposes for which Great Britain, Greece and China are now fighting—the freedom of small independent nations to pursue their own course without fear of destruction by a larger, stronger nation.

At that time it was deemed advisable to provide an expeditionary force to augment the manpower of the Allies batting to drive the invading German armies out of France and Belgium.

Now it seems only needful that Great Britain, Greece and China be strengthened by such war materials and food supplies as can be provided by the United States, without consideration of their ability to pay—as has been the case heretofore.

Actually this places the United States on the side of those nations which are fighting for the preservation, or restoration, of human freedom—the only tenable position which a nation such as this could honorably take.

Naturally there have been differences of opinion in congress as to the advisability of passing the lease-lend bill, with opposition largely based on increased powers conferred on President Roosevelt. Ohio's own senators divided in the final vote, with Burton for and Taft against the bill.

The bill was passed, however, by the substantial majority of 60 to 31, indicating that two weeks of sometimes acrimonious debate, bordering on filibustering tactics, resulted in few, if any, changes of views.

Now, with the national defense program moving forward with steadily increasing speed, and with all possible aid to Britain sanctioned by congress, the importance of individual and group co-operation cannot be overestimated.

Complete unity in developing the great potential power of this country will be the most effective way to keep the United States out of war.

Armament Costs Justified

THE CHICAGO NEWS takes sharp exception to the finding of the Brookings Institution that the tanks, planes and battleships of the defense program are "simply dead-weight charges against the economic system."

The News points out that for Hitler such things are the backbone of his economic system. If they enable him to conquer the world, they may be called the "greatest revenue-producers the world has ever seen."

Our own armament will never be revenue-producing in that way, because it will not be used to conquer helpless neighbors and exploit them to our own economic advantage. But it will be revenue-producing if it contributes to Hitler's defeat and the re-establishment of orderly trade and communication around the world.

"A psychology that regards every dollar spent on a plane or a gun as an indissolubly frozen asset," concludes the News, "is not only grounded in a totally false concept of real values, but could be a decided handicap to the progress of our defense."

It's a thought to check the worries of those Americans who consider rearmament wholly negative without asking themselves the question of what would come after unchecked military aggression.

Evolution Without Revolution

THE political science professor who says that, whether Axis or Allied cause wins in the war in Europe, the United States will face "economic revision" in coming years, is quite right. He might also have said that even if there had been no war in Europe there would still have been economic revision.

There has been such revision in the United States from earliest days to the present time. A better word for it is "change" or "evolution." Economic alterations in a human society normally come about slowly and, in a democracy, often by the trial and error method. Sometimes a change is so clearly seen to be wise or necessary that it is made by law, with general consent. Another may come almost unobserved.

There is far less to fear from an economy that is subject to revision with changing times and human needs than from one so rigid that it cannot be changed without violence.

More Calendar Confusion

FROM the University of Chicago, located in the Windy City, comes a professorial announcement that modern calendars are not in harmony with solar time. They are 15 to 18 years behind it and, although trusting humans think this is the year 1941, it is really 1956 or 1959.

Right or wrong, the professor's news doesn't seem to make much difference. A year by any other date can be just as pleasant or as painful to live through. Finding the calendars lagging doesn't hasten the inevitable cracking of the Axis and the salvation of the democracies. Those achievements will take just as much effort and sacrifice in the present and following months no matter what the calendar says.

Hitler says "the democracies have gone to the dogs"—but the reverse seems to have happened in Europe.

Key to Friendship of Argentina

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

BY SUGGESTING to Britain the desirability of making a smallish concession to the Argentine republic Uncle Sam could do more than probably he dreams of toward cementing his much-desired warm friendship with the Pan-American countries and toward winning the Argentinos over to a strong pro-British attitude.

The Washington administration, as is well known, is extremely desirous to align the Latin Americans among themselves and with us, here in the United States. And it wants them to be pro-British, also, because that's what we are.

Of all the southern countries, Argentine is the least responsive to Washington's affable overtures. Its coolness toward them is a decided deterrent to the development of our New World good neighborly policy, for the Argentine is a powerful influence in the southern nations' counsels. It isn't as big or populous as Brazil, but it's very rich, it's strong, as strength counts on our adjoining continent, and its civilization surpasses the civilization of any of the national groups on the other side of the Rio Grande.

One reason it looks somewhat askance in our direction is that it has a long-standing grudge against Britain—and we're so strenuously pro-British.

Probably not many newspaper readers here noticed it, but our press recently published a brief account of a demand in the Argentine congress, in Buenos Aires, that Britain hand over the Falkland islands to Argentine.

London Cool to Idea.

It's a demand the Argentinos know they can't enforce, but it's made every time the British have some good reason for needing Argentine friendship, due to some emergency or other. It was made during the last World war. London paid no atatention to it. If it had been heeded, the Argentinos unquestionably would have turned vehemently pro-Ally immediately. Inasmuch as it wasn't, they remained, not exactly pro-German, but not a bit pro-Ally.

Now, Uncle Sam, if he would, undoubtedly could induce Britain to surrender the Falklands to Argentina.

He should make it unmistakably obvious to the Argentinos that they were indebted to him for the transfer. In that way he'd gain their everlasting gratitude. And if he succeeded in doing that, he'd have removed the last considerable obstacle to fulfillment of his program of Pan-American friendship.

Incidentally, Argentina's chronic grouch against the British would be liquidated.

Uncle Samuel ought to post up on Argentine history.

Argentina originally was a Spanish possession. So were the Falklands (then known as the Malvinas islands.) They lie in the Atlantic not far off the Argentine coast. In due course Argentina rebelled against Spain and attained independence. It assumed that the Malvinas archipelago went with it.

Pirates Started It.

The young republic wasn't equipped then, however, to police the group effectively. Those were piratical days, and the sea thieves established headquarters there.

They preyed on English shipping to such an extent that Britain finally sent a war fleet to the scene, cleaned out the marauders, gobbled the whole archipelago, and has hung onto it ever since.

The Argentinos always have contended that it was a British grab at their expense.

They want their islands back and have said so repeatedly.

Little Chats On Public Notices

THE POWER OF PUBLICITY

TAXPAYERS everywhere were in distress in the early 1930's, tax collections suffered in turn and it was necessary to curtail and even suspend some governmental functions. Even with lower tax rates, various states and other political subdivisions tried to find ways to make taxpaying less burdensome and former penalties applying to delinquents were lightened or even abolished.

For many years the publication of delinqeunt tax lists was a common legal requirement in all parts of the United States. But in the distressed Thirties this practice fell off or was permitted to go by default and in some cases the requirement was repealed. This was partly because the distress was so general, partly because the delinquencies were anything but intentional, and partly because the lists had multiplied so that their publication was a problem.

But while this tempering of the wind to the shorn lamb served a purpose, it also resulted in some abuse. Some taxpayers who were still well able to meet their bills ceased to pay their rates because they knew publication of the delinquent lists had stopped. But it was a general experience that wherever the publication of such tax delinquencies was resumed tax collections picked up at once. This was simply because of the power of publicity afforded by Public Notices through the medium of newspapers of general circulation.

This Is Ohio

THOUSANDS of Ohio travelers and tourists from out of state visit the Campus Martius State memorial each year.

"Campus Martius" was the name given by the Ohio company to its fortified home soon after the landing at Marietta in 1788. This was the first permanent settlement in the Northwest territory. The portion of the old stockade which was occupied by Gen. Rufus Putnam is still standing, enclosed within the Campus Martius museum building. In an adjoining unit of the museum is displayed a collection of relics and records of the pioneer days.

The state has erected on the site a museum at a cost in excess of $100,000.

Lewis Gets Ready to Pop Back, Bursting to Air Political Views

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Keep your eye on those wage-hour negotiations between coal miners and operators that open tomorrow. They are the stage for which John L. Lewis has long been waiting to make his re-entry into the limelight. Inside word among his intimates is that he is loaded for bear and r'arin' to go.

Quiescent for three months, Lewis plans to use the contract parleys to air his views on national and foreign affairs. From all accounts he has plenty of views and during his long silence thought up lots of snappy cracks to voice them.

He is still as bitter about Roosevelt as ever; still is hotly opposed to the lend-lease bill. However, he has undergone a change of opinion on Wendell Willkie. Lewis is so sensitive about this topic that his friends carefully avoid bringing it up.

Lewis may go on the air during the negotiations. He will await developments to determine his course, but it's a safe bet that not much persuasion will be needed to get him on the ether waves.

* * *

New Lewis Party?

ONE REASON is his closely-guarded scheme to launch a new political party, made up of dissident elements such as left-wing laborites, under-privileged farmers and farm workers, Negroes, Communists, "funny-money" pensionites, isolationists, and foreign-language groups who are against Roosevelt's anti-Axis policy.

Lewis has been nursing this plan for a long time, and will seize any opportunity during the contract parleys to put over some indirect plugs for it. His approach will be that the soaring industrial activity under the defense program is only a temporary, unsound economic palliative; that only through a new political alignment is there hope for fundamental solutions when the emergency is over.

Note—Returns on the recent election of United Mine Worker officers showed Lewis' vote considerably under that of Vice President Phil Murray and Secretary-Treasurer Tom Kennedy, who supported Roosevelt.

All three were unopposed for re-election, but Lewis received only 123,046 as against 143,423 votes for Murray and 141,652 for Kennedy. Lewis also trailed them as a delegate to the next CIO convention, with 113,036 votes against 129,683 for Murray and 128,729 for Kennedy. This is the first time that Lewis has not led the UMW ballot.

* * *

Navy Revolution.

SLOWLY the navy is getting hep to the wonders of science.

A young officer, Lieut. Commander Tom Brandon, was assigned the job of securing a supply of chronometers, used to tell time at sea. They cost $450 each, and four are required for a battleship.

Brandon found that one small part of the delicate mechanism was made in Europe, and is now unobtainable. He reported this to his superior, and was ordered to take steps to train craftsmen who could make the essential part in the United States.

After days of planning and figuring, Brandon suddenly was struck by a staggering idea:—Why use chronometers at all?

"It's this way, sir," he explained to his superior. "We have radio and that makes it possible for all ships at sea to get the correct time every hour. Why have chronometers? They are not needed. It would be a lot cheaper and simpler to get the time by radio."

The revolutionary idea was passed up the line to the brass-hats, who after several weeks of deep thought finally approved it.

* * *

"Russian" Hops.

REPEATED assurances have been given the state department by Soviet Ambassador Oumansky that large U. S. exports of cotton and other materials to Vladivostok are not reaching Germany via the trans-Siberian railway. But certain government trade experts still have their doubts.

Reason is some highly interesting figures that have just been compiled on U. S. imports of hops, essential in the brewing of beer.

Prior to the outbreak of the war principal sources of U. S. hops were Czechoslovakia, Belgium and Poland, now all under Nazi domination. In 1939 Russia sent us $3,000 worth. But last year this figure skyrocketed to $450,000 many times the total of hops ever obtained from Russia.

Figures on the extent of Russian hops production are not obtainable, since the Soviet is very secretive about such information. It is possible that Russia, foreseeing a profitable export field, grew enough hops in 1940 to warrant the tremendous jump in sales to the U. S. Trade experts admit that they don't know.

But they point out that it also would be very simple for the Nazis to ship hops from the occupied countries to Russia, for re-export to the U. S. in Russian ships, and that such a deal would be very advantageous to the two allies. It would enable Russia to obtain American currency for purchases here, and give Germany a credit in Russia payable either in American dollars or in the goods the Soviet buys here.

* * *

Merry-Go-Round.

WORLD affairs are not the only worry occupying the minds of congressmen. With redistricting due in various legislatures as a result of the 1940 census, many of the boys in the house are concerned about the future of their seats. Both Republican and Democratic state chairmen are slipping into the Capital for secret pow-wows on gerrymandering plans. Asked by columnist Dave Lawrence for a statement on the political effect of Willkie's trip to Britain, Nebraska National Committeeman Bert Carpenter replied that he thought the Republican party should send Willkie to Europe to study the war, "because the 22,000,000 who voted for him will have to pay for the war, while the government employes and WPA workers who voted Democratic won't have to pay anything."

Watching Trends

—By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—Let's suppose that you were in Washington in 1928—or ten years later—and you were making your first trip back since then. Today, if you had a few hours to run over the superficial aspects of the national capital, you probably would say, "Well, there are a lot of new buildings—there are more people, it seems, but I don't think the District has changed a lot."

And that is where you would be dead wrong. It might take you a few days more to discover it, but you soon would find out that "national defense" has changed Washington more than anything since the British took over in 1812.

Under national defense, life in Washington is hitting a new tempo. The old order is changing, and a new is coming in. It's difficult to say where one should start to explain it, but I'm going to start with society. When a city's society turns upside down—and I mean champagne, white tie, and mink coat society—then a city is no longer what it used to be.

* * *

New Drivers In the Seat.

ACCORDING to the society writers who have their fingers on the pulse of every shindig and shin-digger that rates caps in the capital bluebook, the "old Washingtonians" and the "diplomatic set" — who always have ruled the Washington social roost in the past—have not only taken a back seat, but aren't doing any driving from there.

After all, what frosted and frosty window of the Roosevelt I era can compete with the Stettiniuses, the new supreme court justices, the Knudsens, the Knoxes, the Morgenthaus, the Jacksons and the Joneses of today? But there is something more than that. The day when the embassies and legations could send all social Washington a-flutter with an all-out party is gone. What ambassadors and ministers haven't lost their countries? Some haven't, but aren't those either at war or so at odds that any entertainment is a mockery?

* * *

Just a Beginning.

THAT is just the beginning of what national defense has done to Washington. Since the war started in Europe less than two years ago, more than 30,000 persons have been put to work here. Think what that means in a community of something over 650,000. In September, 1939, there were approximately 125,000 persons working here for Uncle Sam. The latest estimate is around 158,000, and hiring goes on at about 500 a day.

What does that do to any community? It booms it. Rents (long ago among the highest in the country) are oozing up again. The cost of living would make a housewife from Crossroads Corners turn green—and not with envy. The city fathers insist there is nothing to all this, but I have been told about these four rent cases: (1) A huge apartment project upped its rentals in the $50-$60 range from $2.50 to $4. (2) A friend renting a $90 house was informed that he had to move out or pay $125. (3) Another in a $50 house got a $20 a month raise. (4) An upper bracket lessee took a place for $300 a month, only to meet persons who had turned it down a few months before at $250.

* * *

Much New Building.

THERE is building going on all over Washington — public building and private—and although there are houses and apartments for rent or sale at no more than they were a year ago, the government office situation in many departments has passed the over-crowding stage.

There are other phases of national defense effect on Washington life—too many to list. A few can be enumerated. Retail business is booming, but there are some other cities in the army camp and defense industrial centers where the monthly index shows greater gains. Society life and night life are moving at high speed. And friendships are being made and broken over teacups as defense partisans vigorously assert their views and their new alignments.

To the folks in the hinterlands, it may be petty, but to those in the capital's front trenches, life under national defense is far from dull.

A Farmer's Diary

Born Manager

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

WE NOTICED that the old farmhouse had been remodeled, but all that showed from without was a coat of neat, new shingles. The farm wife opened the door and invited us into her charming, convenient kitchen. "It was two rooms," she said. "The arch at that end of the built-in cupboards shows where the wall used to be. This house was put up a piece at a time . . . a room at a time. This end used to be just a shed used for wood and storage."

Her eyes traveled proudly about the big room—ivory woodwork, light paper with a cheery orange and black pattern, tan linoleum, electrical conveniences. "I kept my big wood range," she said. "It's as good as new, and I'm old-fashioned enough to like to use it."

We followed to the basement to see the new furnace and the bathroom heater. "I dry my clothes down here," remarked our guide. "This oil burner heats the bath water and also the bathroom on the second floor. We didn't put the furnace heat in our sleeping rooms."

She led the way through the living and dining rooms, and showed how the stairs had been moved, and an unused attic space turned into a nice bathroom. Both lower rooms had hardwood floors.

"The cracks used to be so wide between the boards that whenever I'd sweep I'd have to use a whisk," she explained. "We've put in about a thousand dollars here—and I've got it all off of the farm."

"You're the farmer, then?"

She smiled. "Yes—my husband has a full-time job, and he doesn't like farming as well as I do. I like to manage. I started with the chickens, and then took on the cows. Now I hire a man and with the help of our high school boy, I get along all right. My hens do well. I raised five calves last year. I sell my eggs to a hatchery for 28 cents and the cream brings in enough to keep up the table.

"I'll show you my chickens"—she led the way to a little hen-house where 85 Leghorn hens were scratching in clean litter. "They look all bleached out, I know, but they've been laying all winter. It takes the good looks out of them, but I'd rather have a flock that laid, no matter how they look."

She took us to the barn to see the shoats. "They're not so profitable now, and we'd be better off without so many. These old mothers are prolific, though."—and she pointed to two giant Duroc sows.

Two cars had parked in front of the barn and we heard a referee's whistle on the big barn floor, and the sound of running, scuffling feet. "Basketball," she said. "They practice out here. Boys have to have a place to romp around.

"Behind the barn you'll see my brooder house. I can brood 500 at a time. I move the house to a new range every year. Sexed chickens do not pay so well for me. The roosters will pay the hatching and part of the feed, if you get them onto the market in time. We butcher a beef and can it every fall."

We thanked her and drove on. "Born manager," I mused aloud.

"Yes," agreed my wife. "She runs a farm, keeps a new house, rears a family and, just as a sideline, makes money enough to modernize her home. More power to her!"

BUCYRUS — Funeral services were to be held today at Holy Trinity Catholic church for Mrs. Mary Haala Schott, 88, widow of the late John Schott, who died at her home 564 Kaler avenue Saturday. Burial was to be made in the Catholic cemetery.

Mrs. Schott, who would have observed her 89th birthday April 2, had been ill a week with pneumonia.

Born in what was formerly Austria-Hungary, she came to Bucyrus in 1866. She has lived here since. Survivors include the following children: Charles Francis, Lawrence, Antoinette and Anna Schott, all at home! Mrs. Nellie Fisher and Mrs. Roy Walter, Bucyrus; Mrs. Elizabeth Koechley, Bellevue, and Mrs. Margaret McCaddon, Denver, Colo; 15 grand children and seven great grandchildren.

PROGRAMS SET

Galion Church Arranges For St. Patrick's Day.

GALION—Three observances in honor of the patron saint, St. Patrick, are being planned by the congregation and school of St. Patrick's Catholic church here for the coming week.

Beginning Thursday, March 13, the children will present a program in honor of St. Patrick's day.

The annual supper at which more than 500 were served last year, will be held this year on Sunday, March 16. Serving will begin in the school's social hall at 4 o'clock and continue until all is served. Mrs. Carl Volk is in charge of arrangements for the supper and is being assisted by Mrs. John Beecher and Mrs. Floyd Myers as co-chairmen. The dining room chairman is Mrs. Ed Dougherty and she is being assisted by Mrs. W. C. Mason and Edna Mochel.

The third observance will be a party on St. Patrick's day, in the evening. This is being sponsored by the men of the congregation with Norman Schnelker as general chairman.

MUSIC CLUB CONTESTS SET FOR SATURDAY

Mansfield Will Be Host To 150 From Northern Part Of State When Annual Competitions Are Conducted.

THERE will be 26 judges from cities and towns surrounding Mansfield here Saturday for the Federation of Music clubs elimination contests which will be held here for junior club members. For the first time in the history of the contests Mansfield will be host to some 150 contestants from the northeast, northcentral and northwest sections of the state.

Judges are coming from Cleveland, Oberlin, Wooster, Capitol and Ohio State universities at Columbus, Upper Sandusky, Warren, Crestline, Tiffin, Bucyrus, Marion, Ashland and Springfield, in addition to smaller communities in the immediate vicinity of Mansfield.

This, the largest elimination district, includes Ashland, Bellville, Loudonville, Mansfield, Rittman, Shreve, Upper Sandusky, Akron, Alliance, Bedford, Cleveland, Toledo, Lakewood, Warren and Youngstown. All sessions will be held at John Simpson Junior high school with the exception of the organ contests at the First Presbyterian church and the advanced piano competitions at the W. E. Jones Piano company.

The music rooms at the school will be used for the other contests, and luncheon will be served there. Reservations are in charge of Miss Frances Brinkerhoff, and all local contestants and guests must make reservations by Thursday, Mrs. E. D. Gibson, junior councilor and general chairman, announced today. Mrs. George Hypes is in charge of the luncheon.

The morning registrations are in charge of Mrs. William J. Hazeltine and Miss Margaret Black. Mrs. Hazel Wright, Columbus, is chairman for the auditing room while the room committee includes Miss Hester Robinson, Mrs. Paul Watts, Miss Florence Gernhardt, Miss Dean, Mrs. Horn, Bellville, Mrs. Luley Founces, Warren, Miss Sarah Catherine Wallace and Mrs. Loudon Slager, Toledo.

Interested persons may attend the competitions by obtaining auditor's tickets at the registration desk Saturday morning. Following the luncheon a program will be given by a group of dancers from the Marguerite Speas studio of dance, and a one-act play will be presented by the ninth grade dramatic students at Simpson. Miss Edith Ross is in charge.

State officers will speak at the luncheon, and A. LeMoine Derr will lead group singing. Miss Virginia Castoe is state councilor, and Mrs. G. B. Fuller, Loudonville, is state president.

All contests will be held in the morning, and include competitions for piano solo, piano ensemble, vocal choral, brass, woodwind and strings, both solo and ensemble.

Mary Lou Herlihy Celebrates Birthday

Pair Observes Golden Wedding At Family Party

Mr. and Mrs. Brainard Hoffer celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary with a family dinner party at their home, 137 West Dickson avenue, yesterday. Rev. O. S. Garnes read the marriage ceremony at 1 o'clock, after which dinner was served.

Out-of-town guests present included the honored couple's son, Byron J. Hoffer, staff sergeant from Fort Custer, Mich.; their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh M. Hoffer, and Mr. Hoffer's brother, Dr. J. J. Hoffer, all of Chicago, Ill.; Mrs. Gertrude Priest and Mrs. J. B. Hoagland, Mrs. Hoffer's sisters from Marion; and Mrs. Helen Blattenberg, the couple's niece from Lima.

The former Miss Minnie Morrison and Mr. Hoffer were married in the village of Wyandot in Wyandot county on March 11, 1891, and after residing in Tacoma, Wash., for three years, came to Mansfield to make their home. Mr. Hoffer, who is a native of this city, is a stock buyer and meat cutter.

Tomorrow from 2 until 5 o'clock in the afternoon, and from 7 until 9 o'clock in the evening, Mr. and Mrs. Hoffer will entertain their friends with open house at their home.

Mrs. Wagner Honored At Evening Shower

Mrs. Leslie K. Wagner, the former Miss Mary Winnans, was feted Saturday evening with a post-nuptial shower given by Mrs. Ralph Wadsworth and Miss Leona Hout at the latter's home on Sturges avenue. Games and contests were held in the recreation room.

Winners were Miss Miriam Dye, Mrs. Stanley Cramer, Miss Virginia Wagner, Mrs. John Williams and the honoree. Green and white appointments were used when refreshments were served. Slips of paper containing riddles, when distributed to the guest of honor, directed her to the hiding place of a shower of miscellaneous gifts. The hostess presented her with a chenille bedspread.

Quiet Nuptial Ceremony Read At South Main Church

ONLY members of the immediate families were present for the quiet wedding of Miss Judi Linn of Hollywood, Calif., and Owen J. Miller in the parsonage of the South Main Street Evangelical church at 10 o'clock last Saturday morning. Rev. C. L. Kern, pastor of the church, performed the ceremony.

The bride, who is a concert violinist and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Litz of Cincinnati, was given in marriage by her father. She was attired in a costume suit of dubonnet velvet and black Persian lamb with matching accessories and a shoulder corsage of gardenias.

Mrs. C. H. Ferguson of Bellville, who is an aunt of the bridegroom, was the former Miss Linn's only attendant, and she wore an ensemble of luggage brown. Wayne Terry was the best man. Both Mr. Miller's mother, Mrs. W. J. Wampfler, and Mrs. Litz wore black dresses with black accessories and corsages of white carnations for the occasion.

Immediately after the wedding, breakfast was served to the couple and their relatives at Mrs. Wampfler's home, 127 South Main street. Later Mr. and Mrs. Miller left for a short wedding trip, and after April 1 they will be at home to friends in the Benning apartments on West Third street.

The bride has been residing in Hollywood with Mr. and Mrs. John DeCasse Schulze. Mr. Schulze is art director for the Edward Small productions on the United Artists lot. The former Miss Linn received her bachelor of music degree from the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music. She received a fellowship to the Juliard School of Music in New York City and was appointed to the Curtis Institute in Philadelphia, Pa. She did post-graduate work at the Cincinnati College of Music and the University of Cincinnati, and while in Hollywood received violin instructions from David Rubinoff.

Mr. Miller is a graduate of Mansfield Senior high school and an employe of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company.

Daughters Open Ohio Conference In Cincinnati

With the opening of the annual state conference of the Ohio Society of D. A. R. at the Netherland-Plaza hotel in Cincinnati today a number of Mansfield women were on their way to the southern Ohio city. The program, which closes Thursday noon, includes a tea at the Cincinnati Art Museum tomorrow, an address by William Hillman, European manager of Collier's Weekly, and a banquet for members and distinguished guests.

Those planning to attend from the Jared Mansfield chapter here include Mrs. Harry L. Ackerman, who will give her report as state chairman of national defense through patriotic education, and who has been appointed to serve on the resolutions committee, and been endorsed by both Mansfield chapters for state recording secretary.

Others include Mrs. Stanley Richardson, regent, and Mrs. Carl Henkel. Mrs. Weston Cutter and Mrs. P. B. Dietrichson have been named to represent the Mary Washington chapter at the four-day affair.

Informally Speaking...

March 10, 1941.

Lucy, dear:

THE flowers aren't blooming, and not very many birds are singing, but the sky is blue and the sun is shining brightly, so it looks as though spring is really on the way here at last. . . . Maybe it's because of spring fever or spring cleaning that the news is a little scarce today, but I'll tell you all I do know anyway.

Marianne

Two prominent Mansfield educators will play an active part in a four-day evaluation of Ottawa Hills high school at Toledo from Wednesday through Saturday of this week. . . . They are Jesse Beer, president of the Ohio High School Principal's association and principal of Mansfield Senior high, and Glen G. Rohleder, principal of Johnny Appleseed Junior high school. . . . Mr. Beer will serve on three committees for the evaluation. . . . They are the philosophy, pupil population and student community committee; the committee on selection, organization and evaluation of extra-curricular activities by students; and the committee on science and mathematics. . . . Mr. Rohleder will serve on two committees, which include one on meriting the school plant as to whether it is appropriate for the increasing and varied demands on public school buildings, and the committee on supervising the school's arts and crafts. . . . This evaluation uses 15,000 questions on 110 scales and is used as a basis of accrediting the school and as an aid to furthering the school's educational aims.

* * * * *

These are busy days for Charles Ireland, a sophomore at the College of Wooster, as he's a member of the men's glee club, and that group is rehearsing for the concert tour it will take during spring recess. . . . The club, under the direction of Prof. William DeVeny, (instructor in voice at the Wooster Conservatory of Music), will sing 12 concerts in ten days, beginning in Wabash, Ind., on March 27. . . . Other cities where they will appear include Rushville, Ind., Chicago, Ill., Niles, Mich., Battle Creek, Mich., Detroit, Mich., and Toledo. . . . At Battle Creek they will sing at the Presbyterian church for soldiers from Camp Custer. . . . Charles, you know, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David S. Ireland.

* * * * *

NEXT week-end will be an important one for parents and students at Ashland college. . . . The students will entertain their parents from Friday through Sunday, and they are all busy now with plans for this event, which will give their parents an idea of college life. . . . Serving on committees in charge of arrangements, are a number of students from Mansfield and vicinity. . . . Virginia Au of this city is chairman of the invitation committee, while Ruth Moherman and Marilyn Carpenter (both of Ashland) are serving on the invitation and program committees, respectively. . . . Lewis Gibson and Edward Plank, both of Ashland, are helping to plan the program for Friday evening, while decorations and favors are being selected by Virginia Stookey and Janet Lewis of Ashland and Charles Swain of Lucas. . . . Marilyn Holland of Ashland is on the ticket committee, and James Davis, also of that city, is on the committee arranging for the Sunday morning service.

* * * * *

Elaine Schiller, who is a senior at Seton Hill college this year, was honored recently by receiving an invitation to attend a formal reception and tea honoring Arch Duke Otto and his aid-de-camp, Count Henry Degenfield. . . . Only 18 girls from the school had the privilege of attending the affair.
